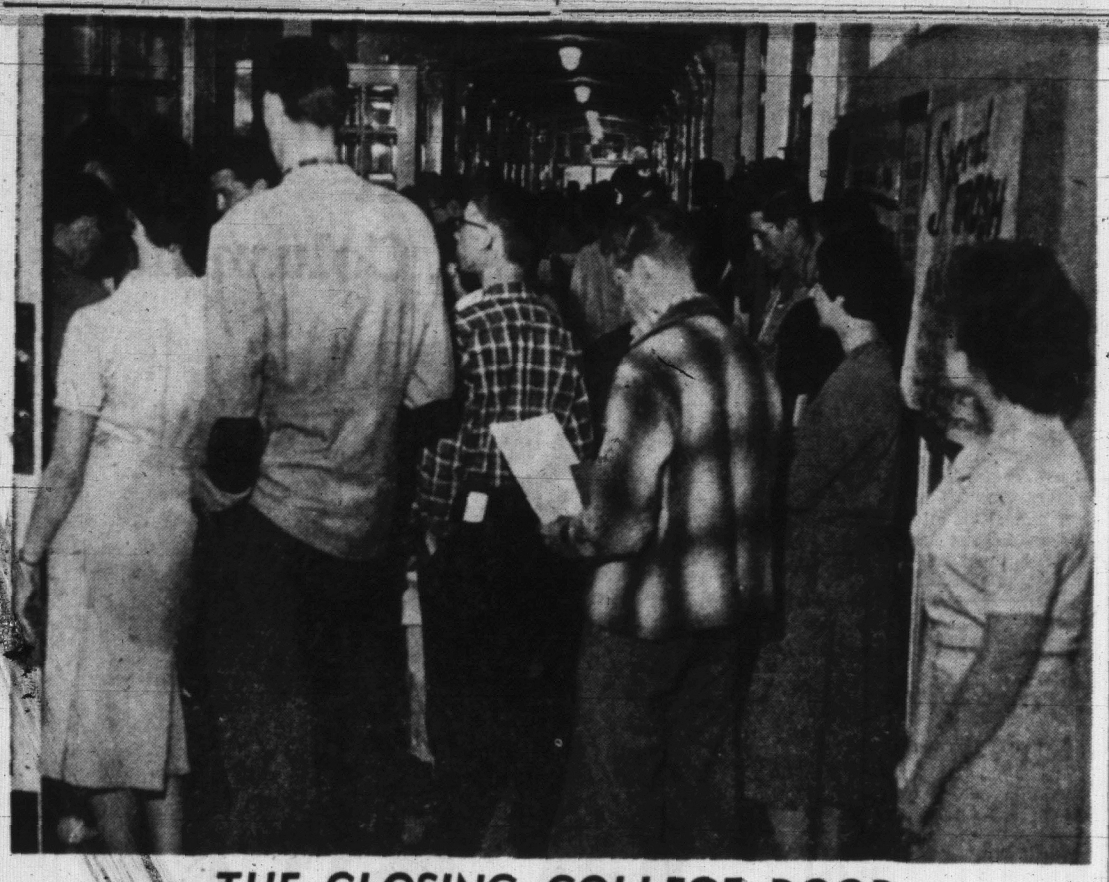
'HELP I'M SMOTHERED,' NINA CRIES IN CROWD

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Nina Khrushchev stepped out without her husband for the first time today and ran into a stampede of newswomen and New York's first ladies. She had to call for help.

"Oh, help me out of here," Mrs. Khrushchev called to Mrs. Robert F. Wagner, wife of the mayor and her hostess. "I'm smothering."

Ike 'A Great Man' Says K. —Had Nerve to Invite Me



THE CLOSING COLLEGE DOOR

Breathless event for hundreds of Victoria and Vancouver Island youths attending their first official opening of the Victoria College fall term had a double meaning today as more than 900 swamped the 300-seat auditorium. Scores strained to hear the speeches — and to breathe — in the crush of bodies that jammed the hallway outside of the auditorium doors. Inside, they were packed like sardines.

It Took Courage, Wisdom

NEW YORK (AP) —Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev hailed President Eisenhower today as a "great man" who had the courage and wisdom to invite the leader of world communism to the United States.

"I am aware some politicians in this country are displeased by this step taken by the president of this country, but it needed a great man to look farther ahead instead of those who are unable to see any further than their noses," the Soviet leader said.

Quiet Welcome

"It is a man's greatness to be able to see today and to be also able to see future prospects and that the prospects should be clear for his nation."

Khrushchev made the remarks in Russian at a luncheon in his honor at the Commodore Hotel, given by Mayor Robert Wagner on behalf of the city of New York. The city welcomed the Soviet leader quietly on the second leg of his tour.

The usual ticker-tape parade was omitted.

Mostly it was a polite silence, punctuated by a few cheers and by some shouts of "murderer" and placards reading:

Eighty thousand persons watched as Khrushchev rode from Pennsylvania Station to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and then to the Commodore Hotel for the official city reception. Chief Police Inspector Thomas A. Nielson made the crowd estimate.

Concerning Eisenhower, the Russian leader said:

"I have always esteemed your president and I do so to an even greater degree now. To have invited Khrushchev to the United States needed wisdom and will power and understanding of the need to place the relations between our countries on a sounder basis."

Loud Laugh

Khrushchev drew a loud laugh from the audience at the luncheon when he said of course there were other reasons why he was invited.

"You wanted to see what kind of a man Khrushchev was," he said. "Well, here I am."

Laughingly, Khrushchev referred to the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Henry Cabot Lodge, for the "burden" he will have in accompanying Khrushchev on his tour as official escort.

Lodge, in a previous address, had delivered a lecture to Khrushchev about the United States, winding it up in this way:

"I hope you'll forgive me, but you, sir, have awakened us and made us more conscious of the great ideals on which our country rests and we sincerely appreciate that."

Khrushchev displayed an attitude in marked contrast to that of the speakers who preceded him.

Deadly Serious

Ambassador Lodge, outspoken antagonist of Soviet policies in the United Nations, was deadly serious as he lectured the visiting premier on the United States and its ways, on the situation of American Negroes and on the determination of Americans to end legal segregation.

Boost College Students Told

By JOHN MIKA

Victoria College's record number of students today were urged to "go out and boost for your college" to help in putting spring campaign for $1,500,000 over the top.

Judge J. B. Clearihue chairman of the college council told an overflow crowd of students which swamped the auditorium that they could help the building funds drive.

"There are 1,000 of you here and if you speak to your parents and friends . . . go out and boost for your college . . . it will help greatly. If each one of you speaks to 20 people, that would give 20,000 friends of the college and that would put us over next spring in the drive."

The fund, to be matched dollar for dollar by the provincial government, will be used to build science, library, faculty and power plant buildings on the present campus.

OPPOSES MOVING

Judge Clearihue indicated in his speech that he holds firmly to the plan for developing the existing campus rather than starting "from scratch" in re-establishing the college on the recently-acquired Gordon Head property.

He said the Gordon Head property will not be left idle. A new playing field for the students and a large gymnasium will be used this fall and —"this is just a personal hope"—some of the army huts may be converted to dormitories next spring.

"We have a lot of good buildings out there. It's true they are made of wood but they are sound.

"Unfortunately, there has been a certain amount of unwarranted criticism of Victoria College but in spite of that we are building a university here in Victoria," he said.

"We will build it slowly but very soundly."

He said the affiliation with the University of B.C. would be retained, and told the students that whether they graduate from Vancouver or Victoria, their degrees would be the same.

UP TO STUDENTS

Victoria College has a "reputation of being second to none

Bank Rate Up Slightly As Bills Sold

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada interest rate edged upwards today to 6.13 per cent from 6.05 last week with the sale of $100,000,000 in 91-day government treasury bills.

It was the third weekly increase in a row. The rise of .08 per cent was half of the .16-per-cent increase last week.

The bank rate — minimum charge made on the infrequent central bank loans to chartered banks—is set at one-quarter of 1 per cent above the average yield on the weekly issue of 91-day treasury bills sold by tender.

Today $100,000,000 of the bills were sold with an average yield of 5.88 per cent compared with 5.80 last week.

The Bank of Canada rate of 6.13 per cent set today compares with the record high of 6.41 per cent on Aug. 13. The record low was 1.12 on Aug. 2, 1958.

Back CLC Affiliation

TORONTO (CP) — The annual convention of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) today upheld a membership referendum asking for affiliation with the Canadian Labor Congress.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

We thank Thee, O Lord, for summer days and for the glory of the world Thou hast made. Help us to stand in awe of its mystery, to drink deep of its joy, to enter into its golden opportunities, and to share its sorrow and defeat. Since we know not what a day may bring forth, lead us safely through each fleeting hour and also lift us above this space-time enclosure so that we may glorify and enjoy Thee forever; through Christ. Amen.

FIRST POWERED FLIGHT FOR U.S. ROCKET SHIP

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The rocket ship X-15 which later this year may carry a man to the edge of space, made its first powered flight today.

It skimmed in for a landing at 200 miles an hour on a dry lake bed after 10 minutes in the air.

With veteran North American Aviation test pilot Scott Crossfield at the controls, it was cut loose from its B-52 mother ship 38,000 feet over this desert test centre.

Crossfield zoomed to 50,000 feet and made some manoeuvres while flying a 100-mile circle.

Satellite Shot Fails to Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The United States failed today in an effort to put a 265-pound global navigation satellite into orbit around the earth.

A Thor-Able rocket carried the satellite aloft at 10.34 a.m. EDT, but the defence department announced an hour later that the rocket's third stage apparently failed to fire, and "it must be assumed that the satellite did not orbit."

The aim was to put the sphere into a difficult circular orbit 400 miles above the earth. If successful the satellite would be visible from all over the United States. Its life expectancy was "several years."

The Thor-Able firing followed a perfect launching of an operational Atlas missile Wednesday night. The Atlas flew almost its maximum range, travelling almost 6,300 statute miles. It landed in the Ascension Island area of the South Atlantic.

Algeria Chief Escapes Ambush

The tommy-gun attack from ambush came while he was walking near his home.

FEDERAL SERVANTS GET ACTION

Fleming Sets Talks On Salary Increases

OTTAWA (UPI) — Finance Minister Donald Fleming has agreed to discuss salary increases with representatives of Canada's 150,000 civil servants Oct. 13 or 14, it was disclosed today.

The joint action committee of the public service organizations said Fleming agreed to the date in a telephone conversation with Fred W. Whitehouse, president of the Civil Service Federation of Canada.

The joint action committee said Fleming emphasized the federal government has no desire to prolong the salary situation, but that this has been necessary due to the complicated nature of the problem.

TOKYO (Reuters) — Eleven persons were killed, 54 injured and many others were reported missing after typhoon Sarah swept through the Tushima Straits between South Korea and Japan today, destroying houses and bridges. Two deaths were reported from South Korea.

U.S. Won't Be Fooled By 'Master Debater'

POLICE SWARM HOTEL AFTER BOMB THREATS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bomb threats against the hotel where New York City throws its lunch party for Nikita Khrushchev today put security-jittery police on the run hours before the Russian premier's arrival here.

Hundreds of police fanned through the Commodore Hotel—previously searched from cellar to roof—after two telephoned threats were received, but found no bombs.

WASHINGTON (CP) —President Eisenhower suggested today the American people would not be fooled even by such a "master debater" as Premier Khrushchev into believing that communism is the better system.

He told a press conference questioner that the U.S. people are strong enough in their convictions to listen to any man present his views and to make their own decisions on the man's argument.

He said he is convinced that Khrushchev is sincere in expressing repugnance of the horrors of war but, even so, there is still room in the world for a lot of misunderstanding and miscalculation that could be very serious.

The American leader said his talks with Khrushchev have been extremely friendly, but that it is too early to tell whether the Soviet premier has changed his mind on any world issues.

REALLY TRYING

He said Khrushchev's manner and deportment indicate he really is trying to reach agreement regarding international problems.

As for the public reception Khrushchev received in Washington, Eisenhower remarked that the crowds did show what he termed reservation. He indicated he feels that was to be expected in view of the differences between the United States and Russia on specific problems and general government philosophy.

PLEA FOR NEGOTIATIONS

Herter Gives UN U.S. Peace Program

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — State Secretary Christian Herter today laid down a broad program aimed at ending East-West tension through peaceful change in the political, military and economic fields.

Herter addressed the 82-country General Assembly in a major policy speech obviously aimed at Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who is to speak from the same rostrum Friday afternoon.

While denouncing the use of force by the Communists in Asia and other places, such as Hungary, Herter appealed for serious negotiation on disarmament, outer space co-operation and such outstanding political problems as Berlin and the reunification of Germany.

He blamed the non-co-operation of the Soviet Union for the arms race of the last 10 years, but declared that the United States regards the forthcoming disarmament talks next year as "a major opportunity."

"Successful negotiations could not only open new avenues of progress toward limitation and control of arma-

STORK SPOILS SCORPIO'S CUPID

Stars Cross Up Margaret

LONDON (AP) — The man who predicted that Princess Margaret would get married today said the pregnacy of the Queen probably upset the wedding.

"The wedding was in the stars," said Dr. William Tucker, president of the Federation of British Astrologers, "and the stars never go wrong."

Pausing for breath during an interview he added: "You will remember that nine months ago I said the Queen would have an emotional upset in May. Well, she did, and this probably interfered with the wedding bells."

Last January Dr. Tucker said in a filmed interview: "The Queen's horoscope shows she will have an emotional disturbance in May connected with a personal and family matter.

"I deduce from this she will make a decision concerning the marriage of her sister, Princess Margaret."

Dr. Tucker was even more specific this afternoon.

"The man she was to have married was a scorpio born between Oct. 23 and Nov. 21. That man was Prince Henry of Hesse."

Prince Henry's full name is Heinrich Wilhelm Konstantin Victor Franz Hesse and he lives in Rome. Known as one of Europe's most eligible bachelors, he met the pretty princess in Rome last April—four months after Dr. Tucker predicted her romance with a scorpio.

"Prince Henry is a scorpio," he said, "and as far as the stars are concerned he's still the man."

For the Queen Dr. Tucker has a new prediction: "Her Majesty will have her baby at 10.30 in the morning on Jan. 17, 1960."

LAWRENCE, Kan. — An automobile agency here contends that its prices are so low that buying is almost like stealing.

The firm advertised: "Come in and steal our cars."

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Katherine Tyson may start riding the bus and leaving her 750-pound Italian car at home.

The society editor of the Alabama Journal complained today that for the second time in recent weeks someone put her car on the sidewalk and took her parking place.

They said the steering wheel was too slack, the hand brake was useless, one headlight, both tail lights and the stop light were broken, there were no indicators, windshield wipers or mirrors, all tires were worn and the back fenders were missing.

But they said the motor was in perfect order.

OTTAWA (UPI) — What is the correct spelling of the new governor-general's first name; is it George (English) or Georges (French) P. Vanier?

Prior to his installation as governor-general on Tuesday, Vanier showed no leaning one way or the other.

But in a telegram to Queen Elizabeth following the swearing in ceremony, he signed his name "Georges" Vanier.

NEW YORK —Some Brooklyn apartment dwellers have not complained at all about a recent water-main break in their building. The management sent the 200 tenants bottles of French white wine to ease their temporary thirst.

ATHENS (AP)—An Onassis airliner with special decor and prima donna furnishings whisked Maria Meneghini Callas away early today for a concert engagement in Spain.

Sources here said the plane of Olympic Airways — controlled by shipowner Aristotle Onassis—had been dressed up and made comfortable at a cost of $6,000 for her trip to the Bilboa summer opera season finale.

The 35-year-old soprano had come to Greece from Italy with Onassis, 55, in his yacht, after the announced breakup of her marriage with 62-year-old Giovan Battista Meneghini.

MISSIONARY TO SAIL YACHT TO FIJI ISLES

A pleasure yacht with a serious purpose is expected to leave Inner Harbor today, bound for the Fiji Islands where the owner hopes to carry on the work of God.

The 30-foot sloop is the Southern Cross II. Her owner is a former life insurance salesman, John Wesley Garrett, who sold his home in Langley and his business to buy the yacht.

He plans to sail to the Fijis via San Francisco, proceeding south early next year.

Red China Shuffles Defence Ministry

The broadcast said the standing committee of the National People's Congress relieved Peng of his duty.

Lin, 52, commanded the Chinese Communist volunteers at the beginning of the Korean War. Peng replaced Lin as commander of the Chinese forces in Korea in October, 1950.

Peking did not give any reason for the reshuffle.

It announced these other changes in the military:

Gen. Huang Ke-cheng, chief of the general staff, replaced by Vice-Premier Neih Jung-chen.

'Double-Job' Servicemen Draw Protest

Protests against moonlighting by service personnel and others in this area will be sent to Ottawa by the Victoria Labor Council.

Objections to the practice, holding two jobs at one time, will be directed mainly at servicemen and federal employees who utilize spare time and holidays to earn a little more.

Provincial government employees are excepted since they are not permitted to hold other jobs.

Decision to make the protests to Defence Minister Pearkes and Labor Minister Starr was taken at a meeting of the labor council Wednesday night and union men were also included in the indictments.

"We'll have to clean our own house," said carpenters' representative Percy Rayment. "Some of our own union members take jobs in the evenings and weekends to make a bit of extra money."

Grain Rates Fight At Hearing

OTTAWA (CP) — Controversy over Western Canada's low Crowsnest Pass freight rates on export grain broke out today before the royal commission on railways.

The Canadian Pacific Railway called for a wide inquiry into the much-disputed rates as the commission opened a hearing preliminary to its general investigation into railway problems.

Symphony Society Drive Recruits 198 New Members

The Victoria Symphony Society has secured 198 new members since its membership drive opened last Monday, campaign chairman Arnold Webb said today.

The society hopes to realize its objective of 400 new members before the first two concerts of the 1959-60 season are given at the Royal Theatre, October 4 and 5.

Membership in the society is obtained by buying a season ticket for the full season of concerts.

"We are putting on an intensive selling drive," Mr. Webb said, "with some 40 canvassers at work in the area."

He added that the free open air concert given by the Victoria Symphony Orchestra outside the Legislative Buildings last Sunday had assisted the campaign.

shine on Soviet-American relations.

Pennsylvania Station, where the train arrived, swarmed with police and security agents. So did every other strategic spot on the fast-paced itinerary laid out for the Soviet leader.

A crowd of more than 2,000 was on hand outside the terminal to catch a glimpse of the visitor from Moscow.

Hostile Signs

A seven-year-old girl from the Soviet delegation's UN school handed Khrushchev a bouquet of roses at the welcoming ceremony. Smiling, he leaned down and hugged the child.

Big crowds gathered behind police barricades for a glimpse of the party.

Some were hostile. One sign read "Khrushchev not welcome here." Another said "Danger, evil men at work." Still another read: "You can reach for the moon, but you can't get America."

Khrushchev sat in a closed car, third in a motorcade behind 100 motorcycle police, which whizzed from Pennsylvania station to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel at about 25 miles an hour.

"That's not fair," said one indignant woman. "I'm going to write a letter to the president."

"Why seven miles an hour in Washington and so fast here?" demanded a man on another corner.

"I think it's all a fraud," said one man at Park Avenue and 46th Street. "He's not even in the United States."

and it will be up to you to maintain that reputation," he told the students.

"There has been a lot of talk of achieving university status. I want to emphasize that we already have university status. We have it now.

"It is true that we cannot give you every class that UBC can. But we can give you a very large number of classes and from year to year we will add to them."

Judge Clearihue said the opening was a "memorable day in our history." It marked the first time that the enrolment had exceeded 1,000 and registration of the first class of third year students.

He pointed out that next year would see registration of the first four-year class which would form the first complete graduating class receiving degrees in 1961.

Judge Clearihue warned the students they would have to "work or get out" during the coming term.

He pointed out the cost of operating the college ran to $900 annually per student. Fees cover only $322.

"That means the provincial and the federal governments are providing a great deal to your education and it is your obligation to repay that, not in cash, but by producing results.

"That means you have to work and if you don't work—well you won't stay very long."

College principal Dr. Harry Hickman welcomed the students to the college and noted with satisfaction that 955 had been registered by Wednesday, compared with 629 in 1957 and 771 last year on the same day.

While he spoke, the 988th student was being registered in a nearby building and the total enrollment was expected to hit 1,050 before the day was out.

Also welcoming students was Tony Robertson, president of the students' council.

He stressed particularly the need for early agreement on East-West co-operation in the peaceful uses of outer space. He called the Soviet moon probe "a great accomplishment" and declared it "warns us to speed arrangements to obtain peace on earth." He added:

"And it signals the pressing need to get on with international arrangements to make a start on the regulation of man's activities away from his earthly home.

"There could be no more dramatic illustration of a spirit of co-operation in the world today as we stand on the threshhold of the space age than for this assembly to act unanimously in this field. This would be a major step forward in the process of peaceful change."

MR. K's BOXSCORE

No Hits, No Runs, No Errors

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The box score of Nikita Khrushchev, after his two-day whirl-around in the United States capital, comes down to this: No hits, no runs, no errors. But he's a big leaguer, just the same.

He was no hit with the thousands who stood mute as he whizzed by on arrival. There have been no apparent gains from his visit so far, since he has promised nothing and conceded nothing. But he didn't commit any bobbles, either.

He had plenty of chance to make a fool of himself or anger Americans in his public appearances and statements. He did neither. He just sounded like a carbon copy of letters he had written President Eisenhower in the past.

Khrushchev has a bit of a ham in him mugging in front of the camera, stealing scenes from Eisenhower, pumping hands, slapping backs, being a jolly good fellow but anyone watching could well have wondered:

Was this round little man with the bald head and the peasant's face, bouncing around town tirelessly; the last chance for a long, long time to melt the cold war?

Fresh Air

He's 65. He may not last much longer. He's a Communist, and a tough one, but compared with Stalin he's been a breath of fresh air in Russia, a liberalizing force.

If the West cannot work out some settlements with him, then with whom? His successor may be more of a Stalinist.

In his public statements those repetitions of what he had long said before coming here Khrushchev didn't bend an inch on the Berlin dilemma or on anything else.

The most he has done so far toward trying to reach some agreements is to indicate that he may make some new proposals on disarmament before the United Nations Friday. Maybe there will be some changes when he talks with Eisenhower next week.

Khrushchev in his televised appearance before the National Press Club Wednesday showed he is not only mentally fast but has such good self-control that he can flame into anger one instant and turn cool the next.

Foxy and Witty

He skillfully parried what he described as "provocative" questions, and used others as a springboard for long re-statements of Communist ideology.

Under questioning by reporters Khrushchev waxed foxy, eloquent and witty. Some of the questions—those dealing with Hungary, the status of Jews in the Soviet Union, and Khrushchev's personal role in the Stalinist tyranny—might have embarrased a more conventional Communist.

But not Khrushchev.

"I will not be provoked by any questions," he said, "or do anything which would hinder the improvement of our relations."

Nothing tangible at all may come of this visit. But Khrushchev, by his manner, his bluntness, and his firmness in the capital of capitalism—has undoubtedly already done himself immeasurable good with the people back home and perhaps millions of people elsewhere too.

'Ice Crumbling'

For Khrushchev, the final event in the second of two taxing days in Washington was the Russian-style dinner served to President and Mrs. Eisenhower at a Soviet Embassy function.

The menu included Russian caviar, Ukranian borscht beet soup, Caucasian shashlik lamb roasted on a skewer, vodka and Soviet wines.

At the dinner Khrushchev said his visit and Eisenhower's coming trip to Russia "will further a warm spell" in Soviet-American relations.

"The ice of the cold war has already not only shown a crack but has started to crumble," he said in swapping champagne toasts with the president.

HE HUDDLED AT TV SET

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev got a peek at American-style television Wednesday. What he thought of it was not disclosed.

A United States official who was in Blair House during mid-afternoon reported he saw the premier and Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov huddled in front of a TV set.

'We're Both Paying Same Spies'

BOSTON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev was quoted today as saying joshingly that Soviet Russia and the United States get much of their intelligence information from persons in the pay of both.

Erwin D. Canham, editor of The Christian Science Monitor, told about the comment when interviewed Wednesday night over a local television station.

Canham was the only newspaperman among 100 invited guests at the White House dinner for the Soviet premier Tuesday night. He said Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, accompanied by FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover, came over to chat with Khrushchev. As Canham told the story:

"... Allen Dulles said to him rather blandly, 'Mr. Khrushchev, you may have seen some of my intelligence reports.' And Khrushchev said, 'Yes, I believe we get much of our information from the same people, and we both pay the same people.'

REPORTERS STAMPEDE AT LUGGAGE LOCKERS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev caused a mob scene at Union Station today when he suddenly and unexpectedly decided to inspect a bank of rental luggage lockers.

Reporters and photographers broke through army and police lines and swarmed around the premier. One newsman was grabbed by a security officer and shoved from the throng milling about Khrushchev.

The incident, the first of its kind since Khrushchev came here, occurred shortly after he arrived at Union Station to entrain for New York on the first leg of his cross-country tour.

SKIES CLEARING, SAYS MOSCOW

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow newspapers told the Soviet people today that Premier Khrushchev's talks with President Eisenhower made a good beginning and that the skies are clearing between the two world powers.

The Communist party organ and the government newspaper Izvestia devoted 2½ of their four pages to what Izvestia called Khrushchev's "peace mission" to the United States.

Pravda exclaimed in front-page headlines:

"First meeting between Khrushchev and Eisenhower ended in friendly atmosphere" and "Barometer of Soviet-American relations reads 'clear.'"

In the West, however, many press reports told of a chilly Washington reception and the authoritative British paper, The Guardian, says obvious dangers arose from the cool greeting given to Khrushchev.

"Coolness can easily look like rudeness and even Soviet statesmen are apt to be insulted by rudeness in their hosts," says the Liberal Manchester paper.

But, provided American public feelings are kept within the bounds of politeness, "it is just as well that the welcome should be less than enthusiastic."

". . . The greatest danger to world peace is a dictator who believes that his opponents are not resolute against him."

Russia Willing To 'Share' Space

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev told a group of senators Wednesday that Russia would be willing to join the United States in a joint program for the exploration of outer space.

He made the statement during a 1½-hour tea with 25 senators.

Khrushchev ducked several questions put to him during the session, the senators said—including one on Communist aggression in Laos, Tibet and Korea. The premier said he and President Eisenhower had agreed not to discuss "third countries" during his visit.

He also said he would "swear on the Bible" that Vice-President Richard Nixon was wrong when Nixon said Russia's successful moon shot last Sunday was preceded by three failures.

Khrushchev also challenged Nixon to take a similar oath on the Bible if the vice-president thought his own account of the moon shot failures were correct.

Nixon already had said Russia had three failures.

Khrushchev also said Nixon has "a very wrong conception" of the people of Russia "and myself."

The Soviet premier ridiculed Nixon's recent remarks during his late afternoon meeting with members of the senate foreign relations committee and other senators.

Although disputing Nixon's remark about the three failures, Khrushchev conceded that the moon rocket would have been launched a week earlier if some technical defects had not been detected.

Lincoln's Words Are 'Beautiful'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev stood looking at the great statue, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge read him the words inscribed on the wall:

These words of Abraham Lincoln still are applicable to the U.S. public, Lodge told the premier.

"Beautiful words," said Khrushchev.

Too Fat to Learn?

THE DAY BEFORE MR. Khrushchev told fellow guests and hosts at the White House dinner party that Russia shortly would be richer than the United States, Canadian educationists were given a few comparative graphs to indicate how this goal might be achieved.

At Saskatoon, school trustees of this nation listened to Dr. S. H. Deeks, Toronto, director of the Industrial Foundation of Education. He told them that Russia has already reached America in educational performance, over-reached America in producing scientists, engineers and technicians, and passed America by a very wide margin in the field of science.

"Nearly all trends," he said, "point to the fact that the communist world is acquiring an increasing capability to wage economic and political war."

So long as Canadians were spoon-fed with hand-me-down basic research and second-hand technological advances from across their undefended border, Canadian capabilities would remain sick and puny, he added.

This is a continuation of the alarm which wakened educators of this continent when Russia launched the sputnik — an alarm bell which rings more loudly today as the result of the successful moon shot.

Our comfortable sleep has been broken. It remains to be seen if we are rising from it to take our setting-up exercises or are just rolling over for another snooze.

There are encouraging signs that we are at least rising. Schools, in British Columbia at any rate, are getting a little tougher, insisting on more effort and better discipline from students.

We have still to see if we are creating the desirable attitude in the students themselves. We take pride in proclaiming that Canada stands second only to the United States in living standards. We scarcely realize that this could also mean that we are growing, or have grown, fat.

In a world in which so many of our competitors are lean, even hungry, we should realize the dangers of being fat, of accenting to too great a degree the desirability of comfortable living.

As one of the outgrowths of mass education, and its inclination to cater to the mediocre, many of our educational trends have been to make learning "easy", to avoid the difficult because too many youngsters in school cannot cope with more complex ideas.

There is nothing wrong in simplifying work for children who can handle only simple material. There is an accompanying hazard in the process, however, when those who can do advanced work join the stream of "easy" education through laziness or lack of pressure to do more than the minimum.

The question poses a serious consideration for the adult public. Certainly Canadians, at least in this part of the country, have shown their willingness, even if they grumble, to provide vast sums for education. They do not deny the youth of the nation the opportunities for education as far as financial support is concerned. They do this because they think, often too nebulously, that education is a "good thing."

Of course it is. But it seems about time that all parents of school children took a little sharper look at the characteristics which make education a good thing. They should also give serious thought to the domestic attitude required to make the opportunities for education yield their greatest values. Those values are not produced when young people are allowed to go through school working far below their capacities. They are not produced when the home environment fails to emphasize to the young student the need to work at studying.

The schools are moving toward stricter disciplines. It's time they did. But they can have scant hope of closing the gap between Canadian educational performance and that of Russia if the home does not co-operate.

Is the Canadian home so comfortably wedded to its material appreciation of easy living that it cannot bestir itself to make children work harder for an education? If it is today, then a few generations from now it could let the nation fall so far behind other countries that we would no longer have our high standard of living to boast about.

Then we would have to start again, with a leaner, hungrier generation, to win back the ground we had lost.

As Our Readers See It

'They Gave Us the Will'

I would like to convey to this newspaper, to all our friends, neighbors and acquaintances, the heartfelt thanks my husband, children and I feel for the numerous telegrams, letters, cards, flowers, phone calls, and marvellous gifts we received, both in Bozeman Montana and here at home. The sentiments expressed were so beautiful and uplifting; they gave us the will and the way.

Also, we are so very grateful for your prayers. We are frank to admit that we couldn't have done it alone. One feels very small and insignificant in such an upheaval. It was comforting to know that others were near in thought.

We hope at some time to thank you all personally, but until then, please consider this an individual thank-you, from the bottom of our hearts. Words seem so inadequate at this time. God bless you all.

'Drooling and Fawning?'

Your leading editorial of Saturday, Sept. 5, admonishing labor for its contribution, through higher wage demands, toward smaller markets for our products, is very commendable except in one respect. From one side of your pen you tell workers that it is bad to demand too much and thereby price themselves out of the market, and from the other side of your pen you have informed them that nothing but good can come from excessive charges for their goods and services.

In B.C. we have the highest electrical rates of any province in Canada, and also, because of these excessive rates, we have one of the lowest per capita consumptions of electricity in Canada. But do you publish a 650-word criticism of the B.C. Electric? On the contrary you have bestowed some of the highest honors, and the greatest riches which is in your power to give to the leaders of this industry, which incidentally, have very small labor costs compared to other industries.

For failing to sell their product because of high rate demands you have placed these men on a pedestal. Service clubs clamor for their attendance at luncheons to dispense a few words of wisdom on how a business should be operated. They are continually being asked to serve on provincial or federal commissions to tell us which is the best way to run this or that kind of business to obtain the greatest good for the greatest number. (Incidentally, it seems odd that the findings of most commissions that you have placed these men on have been pigeonholed indefinitely).

But surely you are not trying to tell us that there is any secret to the success, and wealth, and honors with which for years you have attended to the leaders of this industry? You have made it quite public for years and thereby educated labor to the thesis that the shortest and most honorable path to wealth and fame lies in giving the least possible service for the highest possible price. In effect, by drooling and fawning, and publicizing the "success" of this industry, you have said to labor "Go thou and do likewise"; and when they take you at your word you take approximately 650 printed words to say "No, not that way, the other way is better."

FACED WITH THREE CHOICES

Gruesome Prospect in a Crowded World

THE British Association opened its annual meeting the other day in better heart than it has been for many years. The attendance at the meeting was in the region of 3,000, and the effects of the reforms in the association's policy which are being gradually made are now becoming apparent.

It is perhaps appropriate that the value of these should first be seen at York, where the association was founded in 1831.

The belief that the association is really a body of scientists interested merely in each other's work has now been robustly given up, and instead the annual meeting is seen as an opportunity of telling a wide audience about some recent developments.

At the same time the association can be proud of the work it has done in the last year to organize scientific lectures and discussions in schools, adult meeting places and the like throughout the country.

*The most spectacular of these activ*ities is probably the plan to send a dozen scientists from Glasgow University to the Western Isles in the autumn, giving lectures wherever they can.

The ghost of Malthus was more than merely taken out of its cupboard in one of the first discussions: it was soberly and deliberately clothed with the flesh and blood of biological argument and then sent stalking through a large and somewhat uneasy audience.

Dr. L. Harrison Matthews, director and permanent secretary of the Zoological Society of London, said that "our population is nearing a peak and a catastrophic crash is imminent.' Though his time scale is measured in centuries, this was no loose phrase but a firmly held conviction.

The argument goes like this. In 1958 the population of the world increased by 47 millions. By the end of the century it will have doubled. If the present rate of increase is maintained, there will be one person for every square yard of the earth's surface a thousand years from now.

That this state of affairs should be reached is probably impossible; somewhere there will have to be a slackening of the rate of growth of population. Ideally there should be stability.

But Dr. Harrison Matthew's concern is that world food supplies will not be able to rise quickly enough to keep pace with the growth of population. To rely on a slackening of the rate of growth brought about by the industrialization of society he believes, is to run the risk that world population will be stabilized at a level too high for comfort and even for survival.

Here an analogy with populations or smaller animals than man comes in. Voles, jack-rabbits, and other animals living together in communities have been seen to go through cycles in which the population grows and then suddenly decays, even in situations where the food supply is adequate.

For when they are crowded too closely together these animals do not have the living space they need. So their pituitary adrenal glands are disturbed, and the stress of the close living increases to a point at which the function of the glands is exhausted. Then individual animals die off suddenly in large numbers and there is a catastrophic decrease of the population.

It was entirely possible Dr. Harrison Matthews said, that a similar process could take place in a human population, "especially in view of the essentially unsatisfying, aimless, and materialistic outlook on life that is so widespread." Mankind, he believed, was faced with three choices:

1. To do nothing and to wait for the stress syndrome or some new virus like myxomatosis to do its work;

2. To leave the destruction of civilization to some trigger-happy politician with the largest stock of nuclear weapons;

3. To decide what is the optimum population of the world and to ensure, by completely innocuous methods, that it is not exceeded.

*History, unfortunately, gave no en*couragement to the hope that the choice made would be the desirable one.

Though the contraceptive pill of Aldous Huxley's "Brave New World" was not yet available, Dr. Harrison Matthews thought that it could be found if enough effort was devoted to research. The sooner this was done the sooner humanity would enjoy its advantages.

"Such a substance should be available to all at low or, preferably, no cost. We might then find governments imposing a heavy tax on the parents of more than two or three children, and abandoning the folly of subsidizing irresponsible parents for laying further burdens upon their neighbors in an already over-populated country."

For the British Association this is fighting talk. Dr. Harrison Matthew's address included many other things as well—a plea that radio-active waste should not be dumped into the oceans, that oil pollution of the seas should discontinue, and that some effective means of conserving the wild life of Africa should be found.

But all this was overshadowed by the gruesome prospect of life in a crowded world. The British Association has hardly ever been so electrified.

Better Insight Into the Many Problems of Mental Health

BEGINNING at this time, with a major effort during the year 1960, a considerable attempt is being made throughout the world to provide better scientific insights and some help with regard to the many problems of mental health and ill-health which exist in all countries of the world.

Your readers will, I am sure, be aware that the speeding up of the pace of life which results from the increasing industrialization and mechanization, both in urban and rural areas, all over the world, must necessarily lead to some increase in stress and anxiety and to social disturbance.

Everywhere people are becoming more concerned about this, and the tasks of World Mental Health Year are not only concerned with helping them plan and provide better and kindlier care for those who are mentally sick, but also with discovering and applying through education and other means such methods as can encourage children and young people growing up to greater toughness of character, adventurousness and independence which will enable them to avoid the ill effects and some of the stresses of modern life, when they become exposed to these.

The planning for World Mental Health Year envisages special efforts being made for children and young people; for education of professional groups in the principles of mental health; a concern for better human relations in countries which are in the process of industrialization; care for the special psychological difficulties which are experienced by voluntary migrants, and refugees; and the making of scientific surveys of the incidence of mental disorders throughout the world. The last is something about which we know very little indeed.

Those of your readers who are concerned with such matters and may have a professional background which leads them into research and enquiry, may have useful contributions to make to the planning and carrying through of this world-wide effort, which can certainly benefit all the developed countries such as your own as well as the less developed lands. We should welcome their help and their enquiries.

We should also greatly welcome the provision of funds to make possible both the cross-national programs and the national efforts that are envisaged, for it will need a considerable sum of money if the activities are to be fully effective.

Those who are interested, or who feel inclined to support World Mental Health Year, can write to the World Federation for Mental Health, 19 Manchester Street, London, W.1, or contributions can be sent to the WFMH/US Committee Inc., at 162 East 78th Street, New York 21, New York.

J. R. REES, MD,
Director WFMH.

Black Ball for Red China

ONCE AGAIN COMMUNIST China has been turned down for a seat in the United Nations. As it did last year, the U.N. steering committee voted 12 to 7 against allowing the Far East country to become a member.

This is hardly surprising. Since its intervention in the Korean war nearly 10 years ago, Red China has voiced its right to a U.N. seat but it has done nothing to convince the member nations that it is a freedom-loving, peace-seeking country, eligible to join. True, many of the existing members might be hard-put to establish themselves in this category, but Peking seems to emphasize the point by becoming involved in specific instances of international belligerence whenever a membership vote is in the offing.

In the present case the flare-up in Laos, supported from Communist Viet Nam and indirectly, it is believed, by Red China, affected the application, to say nothing of the recent ruthless treatment of Tibet and the current border violations on the Indian frontier.

In earlier instances there were the aid to Communist military operations in Indochina, several outbreaks of fighting and shelling across Formosa Strait which brought China to the brink of war with the United States, and several tense situations precipitated by Peking's retention of a number of United States prisoners.

On such a record, it is difficult to see how Red China could expect to be invited to join the United Nations. The implication is strong, indeed, that Red China couldn't care less. And in view of the current resurgence of two, three and four-party international negotiations which by-pass U.N. facilities, the need may be less acute in Chinese eyes at the moment than it was at an earlier date.

CBC—'Never Off the Griddle'

MOST LISTENERS AND VIEWers will understand the point made by Mr. Ron Fraser, CBC public relations director, when he says the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will never be "off the public griddle".

They may properly question the word used by Mr. Fraser when he says the CBC is "offending" to some degree between 50 and 75 per cent of its audience at any given time.

He is quite correct in saying that broadcasting organizations can't please all the people all the time. They're not expected to. If the younger listeners want modern popular music, they are not going to be enthusiastic about long-hair presentations—or vice versa.

But to most Canadians the fact that the CBC is on "the public griddle" all the time should be a matter of satisfaction, not distress. It would be a sad day for national broadcasting if the CBC played it safely down the middle as a matter of principle, never risking controversy and avoiding criticism at all times.

One of the distinctions of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has been its willingness to go out on a limb, to produce the provocative, to stimulate thought, to stir human reactions.

While it follows that course, it remains alive. When it ceases to offer a program varied enough to create difference of opinion, it might as well turn almost exclusively to soap opera and dop a shroud of mediocrity.

Not that the CBC is without fault, or doesn't make mistakes. But we'll take what it offers hot "off the griddle" in preference to warmed over hash that is not distinguished enough to be either highly palatable or seriously distasteful.

If that makes the job of a public relations man for the corporation difficult, so what? Isn't it part of his job to meet these difficulties?

A MATCHLESS SETTING AT TWIN ISLES

By STUART KEATE

Frictions Discussed in 'Free, Frank and Informal Manner'

AT an informal luncheon here this week the Hon. Lester B. Pearson paid warm tribute to the recent Twin Isles Conference on Canadian-U.S. relations, which concluded Monday.

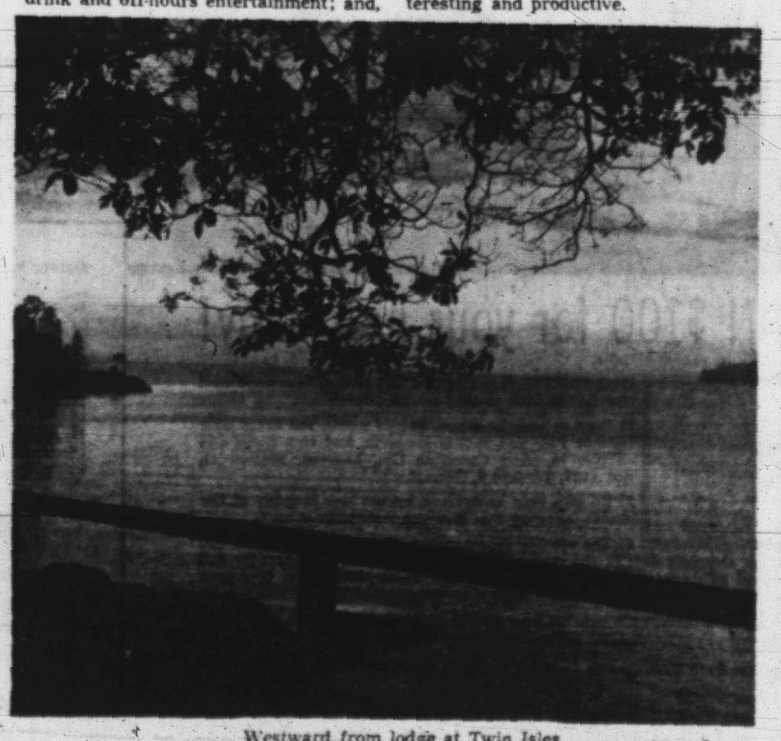
"But," he asked, smiling, "how could it miss? The British Columbia coastal scenery is matchless. The hospitality was almost beyond description. The arrangements were superb."

A glance at the accompanying picture will substantiate Mr. Pearson's first remark. The Twin Isles estate of Mr. Max Bell stands on a rocky promontory 100 miles north of Vancouver, not far from the well-known resort spot, Savary Island. The main lodge, which is regarded as a masterpiece of woods craftsmanship—with a stone fireplace capable of housing a colony of Watusis—commands a sweeping vista of sea, islands and mountains.

In such a setting, the most churlish of souls would inevitably find his abrasions softened, his ulcers calm and his fetishes subdued by the soft lap of waters on the beach and whispers of wind in the spruce.

Nevertheless, the sponsors of the Conference—who had invited their guests to come and air their problems in a "free, frank and informal manner" —were not without trepidation as the great day approached.

Logistically, if in no other way, it is a task of some considerable dimensions to summon 20 busy people from the worlds of public affairs, commerce, education, labor and the press to sit down and commune together. There is the business of flying them across the continent; of arranging beds, food, drink and off-hours entertainment; and, most important, of providing an agenda for the talks which would be both interesting and productive.



Westward from lodge at Twin Isles

As Mr. Pearson noted, the mere locale gave planners a head start. But would the guests be congenial? Would the "economic royalists" (as Frank Hall, the Montreal labor leader, described them) tangle with the horny-handed sons of toil? Would the Americans be lofty and the Canadians insecure?

All such fears were laid at rest on the opening day. The cruise to the Isles, in two spanking yachts, was accomplished in splendid style, with calm seas and sunny skies. A side-trip into Jervis Inlet afforded newcomers a glimpse of rich forests, wooded islets and strangely-formed peaks which looked like the backdrop of a tropical play.

Best of all, the guests liked each other. At the lunch table and on the after-deck they fell into easy conversations which made it evident that here was a gathering of congenial minds, prepared to discuss "in free, frank and informal manner" the frictions of two sovereign nations who happen to be joint tenants of the world's richest real estate.

The Americans, it soon became apparent, came not as teachers but as students; eager to learn, soft-spoken, temperate in their judgments and (most Canadians felt) too generous in their appraisal of this country's achievements.

As frequently happens at such conferences, the liveliest debates ensued Canadian vs. Canadian and American vs. American. One of these will be discussed in this space tomorrow.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

By RUTH ENKE

Barnyard Babies

BUNNY, the Jersey cow, is fussing about her precious little calf that's been left in the barn today. She keeps leaving the rest of the cows and coming down the hill to bellow across the lower pasture by the barn.

Ruth

With her last calf she stood in the lane by the barn and bellowed her head off all day. For Bunny's a slow learner and she won't be content until she comes into the barn tonight and sees that nothing has happened to her beloved baby.

It was born out in the field four days ago while we were having supper. I didn't see it that night although my husband went out to look at Bunny just as it was growing dark.

A heifer calf, he reported, and said that he'd leave them out till morning.

The calf was out with Bunny for the first three days, and when I saw it, Bunny had walked it up to the Maple Tree Field.

It was curled up by the maple and taking little walks now and then, with Bunny always watchfully close at hand.

She didn't mind the other cows coming up to sniff at it and talk to it, but she kept a wary eye on me. And when the dog came up to join us, she lowered her head and made a point of standing between the calf and us.

I sat there for almost an hour just watching and listening because I love the gentle noises that a cow makes to a new born calf.

Last night when I went down to the barn to give my husband a telephone message, Bunny was in her usual stall and the calf was in a special pen next to a door on the other side of the alleyway. The calf was full of milk, Bunny was munching hay and both were quite content.

In another pen in a different part of the barn, nine little pigs, born the day before the calf, were sound asleep beneath the special lamp that keeps them warm and slightly away from their mother, who was stretched out with her back against the wall.

Every now and then, a baby would wake up and rush across for nourishment. Then, when its eyes were glazed and its stomach full, it would stagger back to its brothers and sisters beneath the lamp.

I stood there for ages though I knew the supper dishes were still waiting by the kitchen sink.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps I'm simple-minded, but I love to watch these things. The ginger cat was rubbing my legs, the dour old tom was looking extra dour, little black kitten was purring madly and getting its claws stuck in my sweater, and the dog, who's a mass of thwarted mother-love was peering through the cracks at the baby pigs.

It was just one of those moments when life seems extra good.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Nerves Cause Itch

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

People want to know what neurodermatitis is. It means a trouble with the skin which is due to a person's nervousness, anxiety, unhappiness, or mental strain. For instance; in one of the worst cases of neurodermatitis I ever saw, the woman had a big area of "weeping eczema" on one arm. I found she was faced with a difficult problem in her life—a problem that she hadn't been able to make up her mind about. When I got her to make up her mind, the skin lesion cleared up in a few days. Many another woman has come in with a terrible itching of her crotch, which was nearly driving her crazy.

Alvarez

Again, often, I have learned that she was trying to decide some difficult question such as, should she leave her husband. When she decided either to stay or to leave, the itching was greatly relieved. I remember the first woman I ever saw with a neurodermatitis. She got a patch of it on the side of her neck that itched so that it nearly drove her crazy. I found what had happened was that her husband's firm had discovered that he had been stealing their money and using it to gamble on the horses, and they were trying to make up their mind whether to let him try to pay some back, or to send him to jail. It was this uncertainty that was gnawing at her heart.

A woman came in one day with hives as big as silver dollars scattered all over her body, and itching terribly. Her trouble was that, after having married a man she did not love, she met her old beau and found she was still much in love with him. The question then was, should she divorce her husband and marry the old beau. She just couldn't make up her mind, and with this, her skin broke out. I told her not to waste money on doctoring, but to go home and make a decision.

The other day a woman came in to say that, for a week, she had been running to the toilet to urinate every 15 minutes all day. She said she had been to a urologist who had cystoscoped her and studied her carefully, but he hadn't found anything wrong. I just asked if she had any frequency at night, and she said, "No." After she got to sleep she slept comfortably till morning. Then I said, "You must be very anxious or upset about something." She looked at me, so surprised, and said, "Could it be that?"

I said, "What can't you make up your mind about?" She said her kind boss had offered to advance her the money to go to New York and learn to use one of the new calculating machines. On her return, he would give her a more interesting and more remunerative job. She very much wanted to go, but she feared that if she were away from home for a few months her beau would get to roving, and she might lose him. Hence she had been spending her days trying to make up her mind. A few days later she reported that she had decided not to go, and with this, her urinary urgency disappeared. Anyone who urinates every 15 minutes by day but not by night usually has a mental problem to solve.

As I have said before, one of the saddest things about defects in children is that the mother may keep torturing herself mentally all her days wondering if possibly she could have done something while she was pregnant that had caused the child to be defective. A woman just wrote me that her boy has club feet, and she is still wondering if something she did when she was carrying him could have caused the deformity. Actually, I am sure that nothing the mother did when she was pregnant could have produced the club feet.

In the last few cases in which I have seen a child with club feet, I was able to find that a great uncle or a great-grandfather or a second cousin or two or three relatives had club feet, all of which suggests strongly that there was a hereditary tendency. In a few cases, I found that, besides the defect in the feet, there was a defect in the spinal cord. In one small area in the lower back, there was a failure of the two halves of the spine to come together completely, so that the child had what is called a spinal bifida. Parents should know that today good orthopedists can generally straighten out club feet, if the baby is taken to them early. Sometimes the child has to have special shoes or braces, and in the worst cases, he has to be operated on. Often I wish we doctors were more thoughtful and willing to take a little time to talk to a worried and self-accusing mother, to see to it that her fear that she injured the child is taken away completely.

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

50 Plants in Chive Clump

At the moment, all I can see, smell, taste, and think about is chives, for most of the day has been spent breaking down the old clumps for replanting.

Jack

While doing this, it occurred to me that most gardeners buy a clump of chives and set it in the ground as if it were one plant. Possibly they do not realize that a clump which sells for around twenty-five cents contains 50 or more plants.

With 50 individual plants a gardener can do quite a lot.

One year I planted the single onion-like pieces six inches apart each way along a border. Three years later we had an edging twelve inches wide that drew exclamations of delight from all who saw it in flower.

Every gardener will not want to set out 50 single chive plants, but if the purchased clump is divided into five small clumps, better results in both growth and flavor will be noticed.

Instead of planting all five clumps in the garden, put four of them into pots and sink the pots to their rims in a cold frame. During winter take one pot at a time indoors and have chives ready for use on the kitchen windowsill.

Chives already in the garden can be treated in the same manner. Right now is a good time to rejuvenate the stock by breaking into clumps of five to ten bulbs and replanting in fresh soil.

In common with all the onion family, chives respond amazingly to a dressing of wood ash, also soot and soot water.

EDUCATION MEET ALSO TO HONOR EX-CITY MAN

School Research Agency Urged

SASKATOON (CP) — Research is in the forefront as the Canadian Education Association ends a three-day convention today.

A highlight of the closing sessions is a report by Dr. Robert Jackson, described by a colleague as a "wizard statistician," on research in education.

Dr. Jackson, chairman of a group of 40 educational scientists who discussed research problems during the convention, is expected to recommend organization of a Canadian council for research education.

"The CEA is filling the gap in research now," Dr. Jackson said in an interview Wednesday night. "What's missing, however, is a composite group, one in touch with all agencies studying educational research.

"The desire is for a formal organization of research people in Canada."

In other work today, the CEA will elect a president to succeed Dr. F. E. MacDiarmid, of Fredericton.

The Althouse Award, presented annually for "leadership in the field of school administration," will go to Dr. Harold L. Campbell, CEA president in 1957-58, and now superintendent of national defence schools in Europe.

(Dr. Campbell was former deputy minister of education for British Columbia and lived in Victoria.)

B.C. Should Use Both Waterways For Power Need

Peace, Columbia Both Vital, U.S. Expert Tells Engineers

Power development of both the Columbia and Peace Rivers will be needed in British Columbia in the opinion of E. Robert de Luccia, vice-president and chief engineer of the Pacific Power and Light Co. of Portland.

"It seems to be a matter of timing," he said Wednesday night, "and I am not familiar enough with conditions in B.C. to know just when the combined resources of both rivers will be required.

"Eventually, of course, all the power resources of both Canada and the United States will be needed. There are not many big rivers on this continent still left for development."

He said he believed Canada and the U.S. should share the power potential of the Columbia River, adding that the terms of sharing should be left to the International Joint Commission.

He believes that water will continue to be the world's main power source until such time as rivers and streams are all used up.

"Hydro power is still the most economical," he said.

Both Nations Interested In Study

Mr. de Luccia was formerly chief of the bureau of power of the U.S. federal power commission and consultant to the atomic energy commission and other governmental agencies.

He was in Victoria to address a crowded dinner meeting of the Victoria branch, Association of Professional Engineers of B.C.

He said people on both sides of the border are closely interested in the work of the International Joint Commission in studying the integration of development of the Columbia River for power and other purposes.

"Further to the north, the enormous potential for storage on the Peace River might well fit into co-ordinated water resources use for electric power to include the Columbia Basin.

"And, using our imagination, who knows what other projects still further north might one day be considered on such an integrated basis?"

He said the U.S. federal power commission estimated the total possible hydro-electric potential of the Columbia River basin in the United States at 43,000,000 kilowatts.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers estimated the probable practical potential is about 36,000,000 kilowatts.

"There is now in existence and under construction a total of nearly 20,000,000 kilowatts of the potential available. This includes actual units installed initially and provision for future units.

7,000,000 Kilowatts 'On the Way'

"An additional 7,000,000 kilowatts is what might be termed on the way. This includes projects which have been authorized by the federal government amounting to about 2.3 million kilowatts.

"Projects which have been applied for by non-federal public and private agencies to the federal power commission total about 4.9 million kilowatts.

"Thus their remains of the practical potential as estimated by the Corps of Engineers somewhat under 9 million kilowatts."

Mr. de Luccia said many of these remaining projects are small or will only become economical in the future as the load grows and larger amounts of "peaking capability" are required.

"Some of these are involved in conflict with recreation, national parks, fish and other matters and their construction is problematical."

Most of Mr. de Luccia's talk was a technical discussion of the 512-foot Swift hydro-electric project, involving a 512-foot dam across the Lewis River in southwest Washington.

It is the world's highest earth-fill dam and impounds water for a 204,000 kilowatt powerhouse.

"It is part of a co-ordinated development of the Lewis River," he said.

The Swift project was started in May, 1956, and completed at the end of December, 1958—a somewhat hurried operation. It consists mainly of two integrated parts:

Police Check On Highway For Students

SIDNEY — Students face some rigid control on the roads leading to and from North Saanich High School because of a telephone call.

Following complaints from residents in the vicinity of Rest Haven Drive that students were blocking the road, RCMP carried out patrols to keep the young people to the side of the road and clear of traffic.

As a result of this action, it is believed, the wife of Cpl. William Stanton received a torrent of profane abuse over the telephone from a youthful voice.

"That sort of thing is not necessary," Cpl. Stanton said. "We will now lower the boom."

Delay In Bylaw To Cause Lack Of School Rooms

DUNCAN — Delay in the Cowichan School District 65 $1,155,282 school building bylaw will cause a shortage of school rooms by 1960, according to trustee Wilfred Peck, school board finance chairman.

The original bylaw was declared invalid by the education department because bonds quoted the wrong interest rate.

There are 1,000 students at Cowichan High School, close to 400 more than it was meant to handle, and 280 at George Bonner School at Mill Bay, or 100 above capacity he said.

Case Not Proven, Driver Acquitted Of Carelessness

(From Duncan Bureau)

Peter Allen, Duncan, on Wednesday heard Magistrate A. C. Sutton dismiss a charge of driving without due care and attention, laid after an accident Aug. 30 when his car struck a telephone pole.

In summing up his own defence Allen told the court he had swerved to avoid another car at a bend in Trunk Road, before going into a skid on the wet pavement which ended up in collision with the pole. About $400 damage was done to Allen's car.

The oncoming car's driver, William Jaynes, Duncan, called by Allen as a witness, told the court Allen was "in the skid as I passed him."

RCMP were correct in laying the charge, Magistrate Sutton said, but the case had not been proved.

COWICHAN BAY — Waters of Cowichan Bay, closed Sunday to sport fishing, will remain closed until "a satisfactory escapement of spring salmon has taken place," federal fisheries official Pat Harrison said today.

The fishing ban covers the tidal waters of Cowichan River and Cowichan Bay to the west of a straight line between a boundary sign in the Skinner Bluff area to a sign on the southerly end of the CNR wharf.

Certificates Presented To Engineers

New members of the Victoria branch, Association of Professional Engineers of British Columbia, received engineering certificates at a branch meeting in the Pacific Club Wednesday night.

R. E. Wilkens, president of the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C., presented certificates to:

I. F. Klima, E. R. McMinn, G. C. Page, F. J. Patterson, R. G. Scarisbrick and R. G. White.

Members transferring from other associations who received certificates were:

W. G. Gerry, Alberta; F. K. Hucaluk, Ontario; H. F. Morrow, Saskatchewan; J. Simpson and W. M. Smardon, Ontario; W. E. Smith, Quebec.

A life membership was presented to G. A. Vandervoort, 70-year-old safety officer with the B.C. Power Commission.

R. C. Thurber, chairman of the Victoria branch, presided. At the head table were Ron Foxall, secretary-treasurer; D. Watts, chairman of the public relations committee; and A. Paget, comptroller of water rights and member of the new B.C. Energy Board.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson and five members of his department will attend the Canadian Education Association conference which begins at Saskatoon Tuesday.

Lumbermen Get Help In Opposing Tariffs

(From Duncan Bureau)

CHEMAINUS — The Chemainus-Crofton Chamber of Commerce will support the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association in opposing a brief submitted to the federal government by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce urging increased import tariffs.

In introducing a resolution opposing the brief, Bryce Page, manager of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. Chemainus division sawmill, told chamber members that tariff increases suggested in the brief favored eastern businessmen.

"The brief prepared by the Canadian chamber is being opposed by the BCLMA because it advocates increased tariffs which will restrict the exchange of goods between countries.

VITAL TO INDUSTRY

"I think," Mr. Page said, "that we as a chamber should consider the importance of this brief and the effects it could have on the economy of our province, particularly in the lumber industry, which is dependent upon its ability to sell its products in foreign markets."

The chamber unanimously approved the following resolution:

"A copy of the proposed changes in the Customs Act and the customs tariff has recently come to our attention.

"The Chemainus-Crofton Chamber of Commerce is concerned that certain of the changes which are proposed in the submission could be interpreted as being restrictive to the fair exchange of goods between countries. We recognize the need for a revision of the act in order that it shall be more readily interpreted.

RETALIATION FEARED

"At the same time we express the hope that the proposed changes would not be more restrictive and hence lead to retaliatory measures on the part of countries which currently purchase a considerable portion of the production in Western Canada.

"We in British Columbia are particularly vulnerable in this regard since a large percentage of our forest, fish, mining, and agricultural products must find their way into the world market place. Any increase in tariffs which would restrict this trade would be disastrous to our economy."

MURDER TRIAL CONTINUES

Victim Discussed Suicide

NANAIMO (CP)—A Crown witness testified at a murder trial here Wednesday that she agreed to perform an abortion on a Port Alberni woman but later changed her mind.

Mrs. Grace Light was testifying at the trial of Mrs. Rachel Silvester, 35, charged with murder in the death of Mrs. Joan Venne, 22, at Port Alberni June 27.

The Crown says Mrs. Venne died as the result of an illegal operation. Mrs. Rossi Trapp is awaiting a separate trial on a similar charge, also arising from Mrs. Venne's death.

Mrs. Light said she and Mrs. Venne shared a house in the Island city. She said that on the day Mrs. Venne died she, Mrs. Light, awakened from an afternoon rest to hear Mrs. Silvester say: "What's wrong, Joan?"

Mrs. Light said Mrs. Rossi Trapp was standing in the doorway of a bedroom. Mrs. Venne was on the bed. Mrs. Light agreed with defence counsel Ron McIsaac that the scene she witnessed when she looked in the bedroom was that of an abortion.

Earlier Wednesday John Samuel Brown, a beer parlor waiter, testified that Mrs. Venne had talked of committing suicide before she died.

Brown, who had earlier testified he at one time thought he was responsible for Mrs. Venne's pregnancy, told defence counsel Ron McIsaac that Mrs. Venne had talked of "doing away with herself."

Mr. McIsaac showed Brown a bottle of pills and asked if he knew they were poisonous if taken in too great a quantity. Brown replied he did not know. Brown said he knew Mrs. Venne was taking them.

Brown told Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan he had withheld certain evidence from the police. He said he finally came forward with the evidence after he received a telephone call "from someone" telling him to get it off his chest.

He told Crown counsel Don Cunliffe he found out Mrs. Venne was pregnant about two weeks before her death.

FLOOD WATERS KILL HUNDREDS NEAR BOMBAY

BOMBAY (AP) — Flood waters today poured into the city of Surat, 160 miles north of Bombay, and first reports said hundreds of persons were drowned.

An ancient wall protecting the Indian city collapsed and waters of the River Tapti swirled into the main bazaar, it was reported.

Within five minutes, the reports said, a two-square-mile area was inundated. The water was 12 feet deep in some places. Many houses were reported washed away.

SMALL AND ECONOMICAL

All-Canadian Ford On Show Next Month

TORONTO (UPI) — Ford of Canada said today its new Canadian-styled and built economy car will be put on public display Oct. 8.

John D. King, vice-president and general sales manager said the Frontenac, in two and four-door models, was "built in response to a growing interest among the Canadian motoring public for cars which have a distinctively Canadian identity."

The car is some 1,400 pounds lighter than the present North American vehicles and King said it was several hundred pounds lighter than a number of imports in the same horsepower class.

He said it would average about 32 miles per gallon of gas.

SIU OFFICIAL 'MADE SAILORS DESERT SHIP'

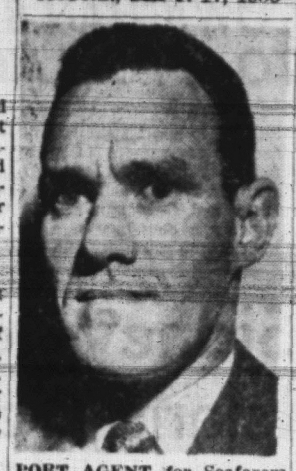
QUEBEC (CP) — Raymond Doucet, local business agent for the Seafarers' International Union, was arrested Tuesday and charged with inciting sailors to desert their ships and with sheltering deserters.

He pleaded not guilty.

The charges were brought by Kingcome Navigation Company of Vancouver, owners of the 561-ton tug N. R. Lang. She arrived at Lauzon yards, across the St. Lawrence River from Quebec, last Saturday to take two small vessels in tow for Vancouver.

Lawyer Richard Drouin, counsel for the company, charged that Mr. Doucet incited seven sailors to leave the tug Saturday afternoon by telling them that their contract only permitted them to do coastal navigation and that they could not return to Vancouver until another contract was signed.

Mr. Drouin also charged Mr. Doucet put the sailors up in a local hotel.



PORT AGENT for Seafarers International Union at Vancouver, Norman Cunningham, says he thinks someone took a shot at him. Cunningham advised police that while driving in North Vancouver another car kept crowding him and he heard a loud explosion and there was a smell of gunpowder.

STEEL UNION DEMANDS ACTION

Ike Ready to Name Board

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Eisenhower has responded to a union demand for action in the 64-day-old steel strike by offering to appoint a fact-finding board to recommend a settlement if both industry and labor ask him to, it was disclosed today.

An exchange of communications between George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and Eisenhower and a telegram to Eisenhower from steelworkers union president David J. McDonald were made public by the union.

Meany's letter, written Aug. 28, asked Eisenhower to avoid invoking the "one-sided" Taft-Hartley Act and appoint an impartial fact-finding board.

Eisenhower replied in a letter dated Sept. 11, saying that he did not believe appointment of a fact-finding board would expedite settlement of the strike by 500,000 basic steel workers but if both sides wanted one he would go along with the request.

"If, however, labor and management request me to act in their behalf in the designation of a non-governmental board that would be empowered, for example, to review issues and make recommendations for settlement to both sides, I would be glad to co-operate with the parties in this regard for the creation of such a board would be pursuant to free collective bargaining," the president said.

Industry spokesman had no immediate comment on the president's offer, but McDonald sent a telegram to the White House accepting the proposal.

Two Die In Crash Of U.S. Jet Bomber

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Two airmen died and the pilot was injured Wednesday night when a $7,000,000 supersonic B-58 bomber burned while trying to take off from Carswell Air Force Base.

The bomber, which flies at more than twice the speed of sound and is known as the "Hustler", never got airborne on what was scheduled as a routine training mission.

PGE Tax Concessions Hit by UBCM Leader

KELOWNA (CP)—The retiring president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities said here Wednesday that the provincial government-operated Pacific Great Eastern railway is subsidized by tax concessions from municipalities.

Reeve C. A. P. Murison of Cowichan said if a subsidy is required by the PGE it should be paid openly and not "as hidden contribution from the municipalities."

"The exemption of the PGE from local taxation is an indirect subsidy not granted national railways. If a subsidy is needed—and no doubt it is—it should be paid openly," he said.

Mr. Murison said so far the government fuel tax which applies to commercial vehicles operated with diesel fuel, including municipally - owned equipment, is a "stupid and bad statute."

Earlier during the convention's first round of business sessions delegates heard Municipal Affairs Minister Black explain that the provincial government will again pay 25 per cent of the payroll costs of winter work projects.

Celebration Friday Marks Standard Furniture Growth

When the special events planned for 7 to 9 p.m. finish at the 737 Yates Street store, the family-owned concern will have another important milestone behind it since the late A. S. Denny founded the business in 1911 as a one-man concern with 5,000 square feet of floor space.

Today the Victoria firm employs 125 persons and occupies 82,600 square feet of furniture display and storage space in three locations, in addition to other holdings.

OFFICES TO STAY

Latest enlargement of the main store involves joining of the basement and main floors of the five-storey store and the neighboring Stobart Building, purchased earlier this year for the expansion move. The upper four storeys of the new addition will remain as office space.

Two months and $15,000 was spent on knocking out the separating wall between the two bottom floors of the adjoining structures. In addition, tastefully modern interior decor has been added to provide a background for the furniture on display, including an indoor mall.

The renovation will give the two floors 100-foot clear widths for display of fine furniture, appliances and secondhand appliances as well as permitting better rearrangement of other departments on the remaining floors.

"It will ease congestion in the store and give us more display room for a bigger selection of furnishings, Roy Denny said.

IMPORTED SELECTION

Part of the enlarged main floor now forms a "Gallery of Fine Furniture" devoted to Danish furnishings imported directly from that Scandinavian country and high-grade Canadian and United States furniture. The electrical appliance department is relocated in another section. Joining them is the indoor mall, forming a lamp department.

The doubled basement area will house a television and high-fidelity section as well as a second-hand furniture department.

To celebrate the opening, a large number of demonstrations and displays have been arranged including:

DISPLAY OF ART

On display will be several paintings from the Victoria Art Gallery, a salon exhibition of photography, scale models of the Black Ball Ferries, Inc., new ship Coho, and one of the provincial government ferries, both under construction now, new features in neon lighting, beekeping 'and, of course, the biggest display will be all the new merchandise we have assembled for the occasion," Mr. Denny said.

This year's improvements at the store will include trebling of the customers' parking area on the View Street side of the building in December.

The firm has come a long way since the founder set up shop in the 700 block Pandora, before the First World War. In 1916 its first expansion involved a move to the 700 block Yates where premises totalling 9,000 square feet kept 15 employees busy.

Size expanded to 15,000 sqare feet and 30 employees when the firm moved next door in 1928. Five years later the present main store was bought, providing 28,000 square feet of floor space. Some 60 persons were on the payroll.

Alterations in 1948 added a new 9,000-square-foot shipping department to the rear of the building and establishment of a parking lot. By then, the employees had grown to number 90.

A major expansion was realized in 1955 when a 40,000-square-foot stock depot on Esquimalt's Viewfield Road was purchased, complete with railway trackage and large truck loading bays. A year later, basement space in the Scollard Building was leased to open a second-hand department. The employee list climbed to 110.

An appliance and television department was added in 1957 when some 3,600 square feet of space was obtained in another acquisition.

Since the founder's death in 1945, the business has been run by a partnership of his sons Roy and Thomas and a daughter, Mrs. W. A. Stenner.

The world's highest mountain from base to peak is Hawaii's Mauna Loa, but only 13,680 of its 30,000 feet are above the sea.

GAGLARDI MUST STAY LONGER IN HOSPITAL

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Highways Minister Gaglardi, who suffered a broken elbow when watching horses near here late last week, will have to spend "two or three" more days in hospital.

Mr. Gaglardi was injured when he fell and had to have three small bones removed from his elbow.

His wife said Wednesday that he spent a "pretty bad night" and doctors advised him to rest a few more days. No complications were expected to follow the surgery.

Independent Canada Could Prove Costly

VANCOUVER (CP) — The price of an independent Canada may be a lower standard of living than that enjoyed by the United States, President Norman MacKenzie of the University of British Columbia warned Wednesday.

"Independence may mean a lesser dependence, if possible, on the U.S. and a greater initiative and effort on our part," he told the closing session of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Acocuntants' convention.

He said that because of familiarity with U.S., Canada is becoming more and more under its economic, financial and cultural influence.

"American practices, attitudes and interests will continue to become part of the Canadian scene and the life of Canadians," Dr. MacKenzie said.

". . . This does not mean that anything and everything produced in the United States is bad or undesirable . . . but I am concerned with the question whether we in Canada can maintain and develop a distinctive culture, people, and nation and whether this, in 1959, is worth the effort."

After League Offers Approval, Piggott Can Reach for Cheque

Sale of Cougar Franchise Overwhelmingly Approved

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Victoria Cougars have a new owner — almost.

Western Hockey League directors went into a huddle today to pass their judgment on the proposed sale of the Victoria Cougar Hockey Club (1957) Ltd. to Saskatoon contractor Jim Piggott.

Barring the unforseen, the WHL executives were expected to approve the sale without too much fuss or fanfare. After that, it's simply a matter of signing the cheque.

Shareholders in the community-owned team Wednesday evening approved a motion that "the company's inventory" be sold to Piggott.

The result could hardly be called a surprise.

But the margin by which the proposal passed, however, did raise a few eyebrows.

Shareholders favored the sale, 759-27.

The meeting, which started out as if it might come up with some interesting, if not serious fireworks, was over in less than 60 minutes. In actual fact, the fireworks failed to materialize.

Nary a soul lost his temper although a few speakers did express indignation over the fact that shareholders were not notified of Cougars' financial position soon enough.

Piggott's bid was the only one discussed.

There were rumors earlier in the day that a second bid to purchase the Victoria team would be made. That bid was never made, even though the rumors packed enough authority to reach the ears of league president Al Leader.

It was not learned who was supposed to make the second bid.

Piggott, who still controls the Saskatoon Quaker franchise although that club will not operate in the WHL this season, was not on hand for the meeting. Neither was Leader nor Frank Boucher, who arrived in Victoria earlier Wednesday and will represent Pigott at today's league meeting.

'Break-Even' Year May Convince Jim

Piggott, in a telephone call from Saskatoon, said he will exercise the option he took out to purchase "the (Victoria) company's inventory of hockey supplies and equipment; Western Hockey League deposit and share of its general fund; furniture; fixtures, and player contracts for the sum of $25,000."

It is not known if Piggott plans to keep his franchise in Victoria beyond this season. He did not comment on that subject Wednesday evening, but a number of directors here feel he will continue in Victoria as long as Cougars operate at a break-even point.

Piggott has, in effect, two league franchises. Since he can control only one, the other franchise is expected to be returned to the league. Strange as it may seem, that may be the Victoria franchise.

The move will protect him against debts the Victoria club incurred last year and which may appear in the future.

As of July 7, the Cougars had liabilities totalling $24,029, including a bank loan and overdraft totalling $10,693, and accounts payable of $13,336. Unpaid bills include $2,000 still owing on the purchase of goalkeeper Marcel Pelletier.

Against this are assets of $10,543. Players owned by the Cougars are not listed among the assets. The assets include the $7,500 league deposit, $868 as the club's share of league funds, $458 in office furniture, $448 in accounts payable, $1,200 in supplies and equipment, and $69 in cash.

The club reported a loss of $50,711 in the two years it operated as a community-owned club. They lost $22,830 in 1957-58 and $27,881 last seaseon.

Most Minds Made Up Before Meeting

It was apparent that most of the shareholders walked into the Wednesday meeting with their minds made up. Only 15 of the 118 shareholders present voted against the sale. In the breakdown, with each vote representing each $25 share, the count was 329-23 in favor. By proxy, the votes favored the sale 430-4.

The vote represented more than 50 per cent of the outstanding shares (1,489).

During discussion it was evident that some directors felt that former manager-coach Pat Egan was entrusted too much of the club's operations.

"I would have had no part in committing the shareholders to another season of operation," director Sam Swetnam said, ". . . if I had known the true state of affairs. . . .

". . . It was a shock to find out just how badly off the club was . . ."

Director Stuart Keate, who said he first became aware of Cougars' plight only two weeks ago, supplied a full explanation of events that led to the directors' decision to sell the club to Piggott.

A meeting with Laycoe revealed that he had received no salary for the month he had been here, the director said.

"We found bills were piling up . . ." Keate added. "There wasn't enough money on hand to pay for the printing of tickets to the two exhibition games scheduled with National Hockey League clubs."

He also expressed surprise at the fact that "the majority of directors did not know of the true situation."

He went on to say efforts to get financial backing from Victoria businessmen could raise only $25,000. About $50,000 would have been needed. When there wasn't enough "fresh money" in Victoria to keep club ownership in the city, directors then called in Leader.

"These are your prospects," Keate concluded. "Either we vote to sell and keep hockey in Victoria this winter, or else we vote against it and fall out.

"If we accept, I would like to urge all of you to get behind the new owner and support him."

Trade Removes Thorn That Bothered Cougars

Seattle's "Cougar-killer" is returning to Vancouver Island.

Don Chiupka, a lithe, 158-pound centre who enjoyed his two best years in professional hockey while performing with Seattle Totems, has been obtained by Victoria Cougars.

DON CHIUPKA
. . . back with Cougars

Victoria manager-coach Hal Laycoe announced at noon today that Cougars traded centre Hugh Barlow to Seattle for Chiupka and an undisclosed amount of cash.

On the strength of their performances in the Western League last year, it appears to be an even trade. Chiupka, who turned pro with Victoria in 1955, scored 26 goals and 35 assists for 61 points in 60 games last year. Barlow got 62 points for New Westminster Royals, including 28 goals.

The previous season, Barlow accounted for 22 goals and 29 assists while Chiupka scored 24 goals and 33 assists.

BEST AGAINST CATS

In the past two seasons, however, Chiupka enjoyed his best games against the Cougars. In the 1957-58 season, more than a third of his goal production came at the expense of the Cougars.

"Every time I listened to a Victoria-Seattle game, it seemed Chiupka was scoring a goal," quipped Laycoe. "I want him to score those goals for Victoria, not against us."

Barlow became Cougar property earlier this year when a number of players from the now-defunct Royals were turned over to Victoria. Perhaps one of the big reasons that the trade was made is the fact that Barlow appeared reluctant to play in Victoria.

At the same time, Laycoe announced that tickets for Cougars' exhibition games with New York Rangers and Detroit Red Wings will go on sale at Memorial Arena Friday.

Rangers play here Sept. 26 while the Red Wings show up Sept. 30.

Burdette Lifts Braves With Fancy Five-Hitter

By UP International

Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn can't reach their goal of 50 victories, but they'll settle for Milwaukee Braves' third straight pennant.

The "hot team" in the furious National League scramble, the Braves moved to within one game of first place Wednesday when Burdette beat the fading San Francisco Giants, 2-0, for his 21st victory. And today, it'll be Spahn gunning for his 20th victory and a triumph that would tie the Braves for first place with a mere eight games left to play.

TACTICAL EDGE

The Braves then would have the tactical advantage over both other contenders because five of their last eight games are against the last-place Philadelphia Phillies and the other three are against the light-hitting Pittsburgh Pirates.

Manager Bill Rigney, who charged Wednesday that Burdette employed a "spitball while limiting the Giants to five hits, announced he will pitch 15-game winner Jack Sanford against Spahn. A victory would enable Spahn to achieve his 10th 20-win season and also to tie Eppa Rixey's all-time National League record of 266 triumphs by a left-handed pitcher.

The Los Angeles Dodgers blew an opportunity to close in on the Giants, too, when they dropped a 7-4 decision to the Cincinnati Reds and remained two games out of first place.

TRIBE TRIPPED

The American League race enjoys a complete day off today but that one is all but mathematically over. The first-place Chicago White Sox lost to the New York Yankees, 3-1, Wednesday but the second-place Cleveland Indians also lost, 6-5, to Boston Red Sox. And so, the White Sox' magic pennant-clinching number was reduced to a mere three.

With 40 victories to their credit, Burdette and Spahn can't possibly reach that 50-total of which they spoke last spring. But there's the more important business of winning the pennant and once again it looks like they're going to give the Braves' "two for the money."

Burdette limited the Giants to four singles and a double, struck out seven batters and walked only one in raising his record to 21-14.

Chicago Cubs and Pirates split a doubleheader in the other National League action while Detroit Tigers beat Baltimore Orioles, 3-1, in the other American League game.

Vernon Law scattered nine hits to beat the Cubs, 3-2, and win his 17th game for the Pirates in their opener, but the Cubs took the nightcap, 4-2, on Sammy Taylor's two-run ninth-inning homer.

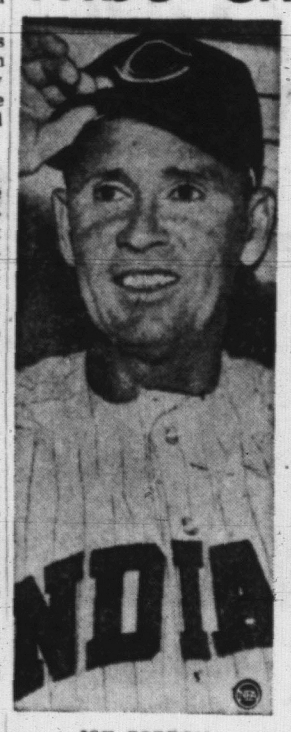
Joe's 'Too Porky,' Tribe Chief Feels



JOE GORDON
. . . in trouble

CLEVELAND (AP) — Joe Gordon's future as manager of Cleveland Indians appeared shaky today following a new blast from general manager Frank Lane.

Lane made it clear in an interview that Gordon needs a miracle to stay on. If the second-place Indians, now trailing Chicago White Sox by 5½ games could win the American League pennant, Gordon would be back as Cleveland manager in 1960.

But Lane said he had four or five men he preferred over Gordon as manager. But he declined to say who they are.

Gordon's failure to call for the bunt in certain game situations recently has irritated Lane. Relations reached a low point Wednesday when both men criticized each other in newspaper stories here and in Boston.

Lane said: "My decision comes on his over-all performance since taking over the club. I think he did a better job last season than this year. He was willing to take some advice then. Now he's become a little porky. Maybe he thinks he's a genius. He isn't by any means . . . and his relations with the players haven't been particularly good."

Rugby Union Chiefs Hit Boisterous Play

LONDON (AP) — Rugby union chiefs in Britain and Commonwealth countries were called on Wednesday to purge the game of cheating and rough stuff.

The International Rugby Football Board wrote to the four British unions announcing amendments to the rules and urging referees to get tough with players who use shady tactics.

"There is no room in the game for a player who obstructs, cheats or intentionally inflicts injury upon an opponent," the latter said.

The board—comprising representatives from England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, Australia and New Zealand—sent out a report of its meeting in New Zealand last month. Evidently it was concerned about boisterous play and injuries in international games recently.

FIERY PHIL FUMES

That's Hockey?

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Coach Phil Watson says his New York Rangers will play no more exhibition games with other National Hockey League Clubs.

"Is that supposed to be hockey?" Watson asked angrily after the Rangers edged Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 Tuesday night in a bruising game.

"That rough stuff was senseless," Watson said. "You play these games to get in shape, not to get murdered. We left Eddie Shack in the hospital with a cut head and a concussion, Bill Gadsby has badly battered ribs and Andy Bathgate has a three-stitch cut over the eye."

"If Watson thinks that was rough, just wait until we meet him in league play," said Imlach. "His players were just as rough as ours."

THAT'S MOON'S STORY:

Too Much Gawking Not Enough Checking

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—It took a game to show the young Peterborough Mercury team that Jack Bionda was human, says Moon Wootton, Mercury's playing coach.

The veteran netminder promised a sounder performance from his eastern champions in the second game of their best-of-seven Mann Cup senior lacrosse series here tonight with New Westminster O'Keefes.

Wootton said his team had read so much about Bionda, they spent "more time gawking at him than they did checking him."

"We're a young team. We had the jitters and made mistakes. Few of our players have ever seen anyone as good as Bionda.

"We won't be able to stop Bionda, but we'll be trying hard to slow him down."

Bionda paced O'Keefes to an easy 12-5 victory in the series opener Tuesday, scoring four goals and three assists. During the regular season he scored 144 points, including 74 goals, for a Canadian record.

DODGERS HARD TO BEAT AT THOSE TURNSTILES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers are a cinch to finish first in the National League — in attendance.

But they're going to have to turn one of the year's neatest tricks to wind up in the same place in the standings.

The Dodgers climbed over the 2,000,000 mark in home attendance Wednesday night but tumbled into third place by dropping a 7-4 decision to Cincinnati Reds.

Visitors Two Down In Junior Series

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP)—One of Brampton Excelsiors' regular season opposition players has made them heavy favorites to win the Canadian junior lacrosse championship for the third straight year.

Bobby Davidson, brought into the Eastern Canada championship team as a replacement from Long Branch, another Ontario club, fired two goals Wednesday night and set up three others as Brampton edged New Westminster Salmonbellies 9-8.

The victory gave Brampton a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven Minto Cup series against the western Canada champions. Third game will be held in nearby Dixie Saturday night.

Davidson was Excelsiors' big gun in the opening game Monday as he scored three goals in Brampton's 12-8 win.

New Westminster coach Harry Preston moved three replacement players into the lineup in an effort to even the series and the move almost paid off.

Fred Wooster of Victoria replaced Merv Schweitzer in goal and made many outstanding saves for the Salmonbellies. Sid Warrick of Vancouver and Tom Wyatt of Victoria each scored a goal after making the lineup.

Bert Naylor led the Brampton scoring with three goals. Thorne, a Long Branch teammate of Davidson's, got two.

Shortstop Sold

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Indians Wednesday recalled shortstop Billy Hunter from San Diego and sold him to Toronto of the International League. The amount involved was not disclosed.

CHICO PLAYED FOUR MONTHS ON LOW BEAM

BALTIMORE (AP) — Chico Carrasquel, veteran infielder with Baltimore Orioles, has been playing for the last four months with only 50-per-cent vision in his left eye.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, team physician, said he believes the trouble springs from an injury the 31-year-old Venezuelan suffered May 10 when he was hit above the left eye by a ball thrown by Boston Red Sox catcher Sammy White.

Kilburn To Assist Chapman

VANCOUVER (CP)—Colin Kilburn, who has been general manager, coach and player in two leagues since 1957, Wednesday was signed as assistant coach of the Vancouver Canucks Western Hockey League Club.

General manager Coley Hall said an assistant for coach Art Chapman has been under advisement for several years.

Kilburn was purchased from Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League in June. He started the 1957-58 season as general manager, coach and player for Victoria Cougars of the WHL. He lost all positions about the middle of the season and was shipped to the WHL Edmonton Flyers. Later he moved to Springfield.

Hall feels that a league of National Hockey League calibre will be formed on the West Coast in the future.

Appointment of Kilburn is part of a campaign to strengthen the team. Kilburn will do some scouting when not doing coaching work.

"We get the bulk of our players now from New York Rangers," Hall said. "But that'll end when we go big time."

Distance Marks Claimed By Reds

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians claimed two more world walking records Wednesday.

Mikhail Lavrov reportedly stepped 30 miles over a cinder track in four hours, two minutes, 4.6 seconds, bettering the mark of 4.12.03.4 set by L. Moc of Czechoslovakia in 1956.

Lavrov also was reported to have walked 51 kilometers (31 miles, 120½ yards) in 4.11.18.0, bettering the record of 4.21.01, also credited to Moc.

Tregellas Triumphs

Al Tregellas swept both halves of the 12th annual B.C. Electric golf tournament, winning the R. B. Matthews Trophy with a net 69 as well as low gross with a 76. Net runners-up were Pete Napier and Walter Cameron, each with 83-8—75.

It was revenge night in Big Four football.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats jumped back into undisputed league leadership Wednesday night with a 25-13 win over Montreal Alouettes, the club that handed Ti-Cats their first defeat of the season Saturday, 27-21.

Hamilton	5	1	155	76	10
Montreal	4	2	125	89	8
Toronto	2	4	57	131	4
Ottawa	1	5	79	120	2

Tommy Grant, Ron Howell and halfback Gerry McDougall each scored a touchdown for Hamilton. All were coverted by Steve Oneschuck, who also kicked a single. Another single by Cam Fraser and a safety touch rounded out Hamilton's total.

Ed Learn, who ran 50 yards after intercepting a Bernie Faloney pass, and Red O'Quinn scored Montreal's majors, only one of which was converted.

ARGOS HANDCUFFED

At Ottawa, the Riders had Argos handcuffed all the way with Thelen's brilliant running and the adept ball-handling of Canadian quarter Russ Jackson tearing the Toronto line to shreds.

Thelen, whose touchdown splurge tied the individual scoring record for a single Big Four game, carried the ball 23 times for 171 yards. The Ottawa team posted an impressive 334 yards rushing while Toronto managed only 69.

The rest of the Rider scoring came on three converts by Gary Schreider and a single kicked by Frank Tripucka, who relieved Jackson late in the final quarter and threw an effective aerial attack at Argos.

Argos' single was scored in the first quarter by Canadian quarterback Gerry Doucette.

Sailors Prepared For Aerial Attack

Changes will be evident when Navy moves out to try and avenge their 36-0 loss to Vancouver Wildcats in last week's opening game of the Pacific Coast Intermediate Canadian Football Conference Saturday.

PADRE EDWARDS
. . . looking for win

Coach Padre Ivan Edwards is looking to contain Vancouver's air display after a week's work on pass defence. He also will make a number of backfield changes for the 2.30 p.m. game at Royal Athletic Park.

Veteran Joe Hornesty will get some relief at quarterback from Val Reiger and Bary Burgess.

Another major addition in the backfield will be the return of Red Larsen at fullback to work along with work-horse Jerry Porter.

"Vancouver scored 28 points on pass plays last week," said Edwards. "They won't do it again."

HALF WAY PRACTICE

Half Way House senior "B" men's basketball team will work out at Mount View High School tonight, starting at 8.

Ed's a Trifle Leery Of Knockouts Now

PORTLAND, Ore (AP)—Eddie Machen said he did his best infighting ever Wednesday night when he outpointed Willi Besmanoff in a 10-round heavyweight bout here.

But the Portland battler did not demonstrate the punch that accounted for 18 knockout victories in his 32 professional fights, and the crowd of 2,277 didn't like it.

The many clinches, close-in jabbing and a lack of action brought boos and catcalls from the fans.

Machen's victory over Besmanoff, a German-born fighter now out of Milwaukee, ran his record to 30 wins, one loss and a draw. The loss was knockout at the hands of heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson last year.

WARY OF KNOCKOUT

Machen appeared wary of another knockout. The No. 4 ranked fighter, at 194 pounds—5½ fewer than Besmanoff—concentrated inside and sometimes moved well out of reach.

"I was trying to set him up all the way through," Machen said. In the ninth and 10th rounds Besmanoff was in trouble on the ropes, but fought his way clear.

Coe Advances With Easy Win

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Charlie Coe swung ahead Wednesday on the trail of a second straight championship with decisive victories in the third and fourth rounds of the U.S. Amateur Golf Tournament.

Harvie Ward, the two-time champion from San Francisco, Jack Nicklaus, the longshot choice from Columbus, Ohio, and Tommy Aaron, last year's runnerup from Gainsville, Ga., stayed in the running with double victories.

Coe encountered no trouble on the windswept 7,010-yard par 71 Broadmoor course. He conquered Bob Batdorff II, Hershey, Pa., 3 and 1 in the third round, and Jim Vickers, Wichita, Kan., 4 and 3 in the fourth round.

Ward, improving each day, sidelined Payne Palmer III, Phoenix, Ariz., 7 and 6 and Curtis Person, Memphis, Tenn., 2 and 1.

Among the surprises was Tom Draper, 45-year-old giant from Bit, Mich., who ousted Billy Joe Patton, Morgantown, N.C., Walter Cupper, 4 and 3 in the fourth round. The upset of Patton followed Draper's one-up triumph over congressman Jack Westland of Everett, Wash., in the third round.

"Let's face it, I'm lucky," said the willowy Draper, playing in his 15th U.S. Amateur Tournament.

Hurler's Homer Sidelines Omaha

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minneapolis Millers won their American Association semi-final playoff with Omaha Wednesday night with a double-header sweep climaxed by pitcher Bolly Nuffett's 12th inning home run in the second game.

Millers won the nightcap 3-2 after taking the seven-inning first game, 5-3. This was the replay of an allowed Omaha protest of the Millers' 4-3 victory Tuesday night.

Minneapolis won the best-of-seven series 4-2 and meets Fort Worth here Friday night in the opener of the best-of-seven championship series.

Rough Riders Wooing Quarter

OTTAWA (UPI) — Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football League have added veteran American quarterback Vito (Babe) Parilli to their negotiation list, coach Frank Clair revealed Wednesday.

Clair apparently beat the Toronto Argonauts to the punch in getting the Canadian rights to deal with the former Kentucky University star, cut Tuesday from the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

The Rider coach said he also added "four or five" other NFL cuts to the Ottawa list.

Whether the Riders get a chance to sign Parilli depends first on whether he is waived out of the National League, and secondly, whether he wants to play in Canada.

With neither import Frank Tripucka nor Canadian Russ Jackson able to get the team moving in five games, Clair has been interested in finding a top-flight quarterback.

Argos were seeking a replacement for Ronnie Knox, who quit the club earlier this week.

'THE HORSE AND THE LADY'—A TURF CLASSIC

Twilight Years Kind to Venerable Pair

By HAL MALONE

A fallacy of horse racing fondly held by many people who know nothing about it is that horsemen are a bunch of scoundrels who mistreat their charges, cheat the public and shun their communal responsibilities.

In a few cases this is true.

In the case of Mrs. Jessie MacKenzie and the B.C. branch of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, it is as wrong as Jimmy Hoffa.

Mrs. Mac-Kenzie is a little pearl of a horsewoman who knows and has forgotten more about racehorses than many of her colleagues will ever know. There is nothing special about her.

Nothing, that is, unless you consider she is 86 years young, trained racehorses in Canada, the U.S. and Mexico for 60 years and was the first woman in North America to receive a trainer's licence.

'Age Cannot Wither'

The years have not dimmed this lady, no taller than an overgrown jockey and just as pencil slim. Her smokey-grey eyes twinkle behind spectacles acquired "for reading only" six months ago and she'll talk your arm off—not in the jargon of racing people but with perfect English. She is slightly deaf and high blood pressure has caused her to ease her once torrid pace.

While the years have been relatively kind to her, some of the horses she has owned haven't always been as kind. More than a few of them have been beset with "the slows"—a malady nothing short of a dependable battery can overcome.

Wealthy horsemen frequently deal off animals which drain the bank account on the grounds that nothing succeeds like success and sentiment can only lead to the poor house. Other horsemen, like Mrs. MacKenzie, often keeps them against their better judgment and for fear that somebody else will mistreat the animal and fail to give it a good home when it reaches the pension stage.

Brighouse Home

The fact Mrs. MacKenzie is of the latter school accounts for the rapid decline in her economy. Several years ago when her situation came to the notice of the horsemen's group they quietly, and without being asked, set her up in a little cottage behind Brighouse racetrack. It wasn't much and they made repeated and unsuccessful efforts to have her move into better quarters.

When Brighouse was demolished in June, Mrs. MacKenzie was told she, too, would have to go. Again the horsemen's association stepped in. They told her they would pay to ship her and her horses to Sandown but when the Vancouver Island meeting opened (as it does Saturday) she would have to move to a place in the country they promised to find.

Some searching produced a neat white cottage at the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lownds, 482 Sparton Road, off Old West Saanich Road. At first reluctant to leave the track she had known all her life, she acquiesed when she learned that the Lownds had a barn for her four horses.

Quietly, the HBPA paid the rent, bought her an oil stove and assured the Lownds they would supplement Mrs. Mac's old age pension to the extent she would not go without the necessities of life.

These considerate acts by the horsemen explain the "benevolent" in the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association. They put the lie, more adequately than anything else they could do, to critics of racing who claim it is populated by cold, heartless, chiseling people who place the dollar above people—their own people.

Their kindness has enabled Mrs. Mac to continue her life with horses, particularly one horse. She spoke of him Wednesday. She calls him "the little horse" and "Jimmy" but his real name is Jim Rogan.

Became a Busher

"He's the littlest horse with the biggest heart I've ever known," she said. "Was 106 times in the money. Won 25 races, was second 48 times, had 33 thirds. They wouldn't let him race at legitimate tracks when he was 12 but he kept on running and winning at the bush tracks.

"Won his last race when he was 17, he did. Mister, that's a real honest horse you're looking at."

Race patrons in Jim Rogan's day loved the little fellow not only for his performance but also for his exhibitionism.

"I guess he's just a born showoff. Had the funniest habit before a race. He'd walk up to the odds board, turn, face it and stop. You'd swear he was trying to find out what the people thought of his chances."

Best B.C.-Bred

She talked of many other things. Like His Brother was "the best horse I ever had, the best horse ever bred in B.C."

What about Don Carley's $25,000 beauty, Major Turley, or Bill Lochhead's mighty Lord Renraw?

"No, sir," she said positively. "The mark of a great horse is his ability as a three-year-old to beat older, stake horses. His Brother did it five times in a row. If a horse can't do that he's just a good horse. But not a great one."

From horses Mrs. Mac went on to trainers. Here she bristled.

"Not too many good ones around today. Many of them are grooms, stable boys one day, trainers the next. They don't know what it's all about."

How long does it take to be a good trainer?

"Depends on the individual's intellect, his ability to absorb information and his interest. Half of today's trainers don't know how to handle babies (two-year-olds). A baby is just that; you can't expect him to do a man's work. But they do. And when the horse is three he hasn't got it any more.

"Why I never had a two-year-old I couldn't win with."

If Mrs. Mac thinks horsemen generally are the finest people in the world she can be excused.

She recalled the day six years ago that Lansdowne track officials and the horsemen's association combined to give her and Jim Rogan "a day" at the races.

Breeding Tells

Proudly she showed off her doughty little horse, heard Jack Short recall some of Jimmy's finest races and accepted with tears in her eyes a purse. It contained $1,500.

"A wonderful day it was," she said. "It sort of proved to me that in horsemen, like good horses, breeding tells.

JOCKEY TAKES TO TAXI BUT STILL LOSES RACE

AYR, Scotland (UPI) — Jockey Tony Wilson took extraordinary measures to win a race here Wednesday, but he still came in last.

Sarah gave Tony and the taxi a merry chase around the track, but finally the jockey caught her and remounted to ride across the finish line.

Kipper for Breakfast Formidable Affair

Veteran B.C. Newspaperman Charlie Defieux, born in England, is back there for a visit. His impressions, he says, will be "frank and truthful".

By CHARLES DEFIEUX

Perhaps it's time for a capsule travelogue with the intent of summarizing happenings of 700 miles of touring, relating incidents and sights and possibly recalling to those from the Old Country some well and affectionately remembered place names.

Defieux

London to Dunstable is now history in this column and so it is over the now housing settled road to Luton, thence north through Streetley, Clophill, Silsoe and its unending fields of Brussels sprouts and into Bedford. Northward the ever-winding highway takes us through Rushton, Kettering, Rothwell, Market Ha borough and into the day's destination of Leicester, its entrance bordered by brick-walled garden homes.

Only Two Lanes

Most hospitable relatives provided a beautiful afternoon and evening holiday, made even more enjoyable because they used their car and allowed the visitors to take their eyes off the ominous left hand curb and approaching motorists imbued with a mad passion to use an imaginary centre-third lane on a highway whose two lanes were already occupied.

We journeyed north through Mountsorel, Quorn, which was once the home of a favorite hunt and whose kennels are now closed, the busy town of Loughborough and into the picturesque, if grimy, railroad centre of Derby.

Here was our introduction to young Britain's latest hobby, "train-spotting," for the highway bridge over a main line was crowded with youngsters armed with pencils and notebooks. Whether they take the numbers of engines, coaches or trains I don't know. We'll enquire later.

'Canadian Diary'

Duffield and Belper passed by and then it was the beautiful gorge scenery of Matlock Spa, home of the famous mineral baths. Here was an unfortunate commercialization of roadside beauty by garishly colored trucks selling 'eecream and identifying themselves as the "Canadian Dairy." Hard-by a bridge over the Derwent was a stop for tea in the garden of the "Peacock Arms," an inn at Rowsley and dating back to 1652. The visit to Chatsworth House, home of the Duke of Devonshire, and the ruins of historic Haddon Hall, scene of the elopement of Dorothy Vernon, is grist for later columns. Homebound to Leicester was heightened by a stop for a delicious dinner at one of the many old, quaint and delightful places hidden away in country lanes and whose menus and wine lists would delight the most exacting gourmet.

It is fascinating how countryside beauty turns so suddenly into the grime of industry as one rolls over the winding miles from Leicester to Liverpool through Ashby de-la-Zouche, Burton or Trent and Stoke-on-Trent with their great pottery works, Knutsford, and the highly industrial Warrington. En route we met the experience of Sunday licensing hours for food and drink, being twice rejected somewhat testily because we were a few minutes after the "closing time" for lunch of any kind.

The story of Liverpool will be told on another occasion but perhaps there is time for the incident of the herring filet and the maitre d' of our historic hostelry. Each morning of our "bed and breakfast" stops at leading hotels there has been the sombre, stiff army of tail-coated, stiff-shirted and black-tied gentlemen who ominously hand you a menu while white-coated and aproned lesser hirelings stand by with expressions of utter serfdom and fear. And so it was that on this morning we relished the good old standby, bacon and eggs, and watched enthralled as a sub-waiter brought to an elderly gentleman's table nearby, a smoked kipper which is a standard breakfast diet in this country.

Surgical Precision

The kipper was given nodded approval and welcome by the diner and then, apparently by request, was whisked off to a side-table. Here the maitre d' "shot" his shirt cuffs and with the grace, dexterity and studied dignity of the surgeon took up his scalpel. Four waiters, two busboys, and one waitress stood by like awed medical students at a surgical clinic. The maitre d' took time only to see that his assistant was caring for the arriving guests and it seemed that worthy individual would far rather have been standing at the side of the master. The operating table was too far away to describe the surgery. It seemed that there was some preliminary cutting then a dexterous and careful lift of the part to be excised.

The operation lasted fully three minutes during which time the patient became undeniably cold. With a flourish the maitre d' showed his handiwork to the admiring students and presented it with solemn mien to the breakfast guest. We lesser things who ordered such a plebian dish as "bacon and," dared hope that the kipper enthusiast would find one bone and, in sinister thought, believed we might see the National Health program in action. But it was not to be, and we detected almost a look of scorn as we passed by the stiff-backed maitre at his desk as we left the dining room.

You can see that the tenseness of that breakfast has caused me to lose my judgment of time and space. We will try and finish the journey in the next column. In the meantime take a look at a kipper. I have. The man was a "ruddy marvel" as the saying goes here.

The zigzagging Virginia rail fence was the most usual type in Canada in the 18th and 19th centuries.

'Rank and File Need Educating'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dan Radford, Canadian Labor Congress educational director for British Columbia, said rank and file trade unionists find nothing wrong with the Trades Union Act.

Mr. Radford said in an interview: "It is important to educate our people as to what's going on. Our rank and file think Bill 43 of the Trade Union Act is all right. They don't know the effects of Bill 43.

"The union leaders know what the situation is but the workers themselves don't."

Mr. Radford was appealing for a good turnout at the CLC's educational institute here Oct. 17-18.

It is the first time a union leader has stated publicly that there is no objection to the controversial act among the rank and file. The act restricts picketing, makes unions liable to be sued and prevents secondary boycotts.

TWO ONTARIO GUNMEN STILL ELUDE MANHUNT

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police today were ready to discount the theory that two armed men who have terrorized eastern Ontario residents in the last two days still are hidden in the area.

Police Wednesday cordoned off a cornfield near Chesterville, 30 miles northwest of here, after a farmer reported seeing two suspicious men.

A thorough search revealed nothing although police were assisted by an RCAF helicopter. They also made a barn-to-barn check in the area.

The search for the men, who abducted a Niagara Falls area couple last week and later a Belleville area family, has centred between here and Morrisburg, 25 miles west.

FOUR INCHES OF RAW MEAT

Initiation Kills Student

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A University of Southern California student choked to death on a piece of raw meat during a pre-dawn fraternity hazing today, police reported.

Dr. Melvin Goldy, summoned to the Kappa Sigma fraternity house, said he had to extract a thick piece of liver from the gullet of Richard Swanson, 21, Swanson, son of a Los Angeles physician, was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

Dr. Goldy said the piece was nearly four inches long and nearly an inch thick.

Police said the youth was being initiated along with 10 other pledges (prospective members).

Nathan Ruben, ambulance attendant, said he found the youth, dressed in a burlap sack, lying on his stomach in the rear of the fraternity house.

He asked the onlookers if Swanson had eaten anything, but they remained silent.

"Had I known about the liver," Ruben added, "I might have performed a tracheotomy an emergency throat-slitting operation and he might have been saved."

Ruben said the youths crowding around Swanson told him the student was suffering a nervous, spasmodic attack.

Police said Swanson and the other pledges had performed a series of pushups before the fatal incident. They said Swanson was the first given the raw meat, which apparently was to be swallowed by the initiates.

NIGHT FLIGHTS TO VANCOUVER NEXT TUESDAY

Night flights to Vancouver, suspended due to repair work on the main runway at Victoria International airport, will be resumed on schedule Tuesday a Trans-Canada Air Lines spokesman said today.

Only a bad weather development can delay completion of the work in time for the scheduled resumption of service.

OUR LIVES DEPEND ON UN—PEARSON

Control of A-Bomb Urgent

National Liberal leader Lester Pearson outlined the need for UN control of atomic weapons. It was one of the items Canada should press for in the council of nations, he told local party members and their friends Wednesday night.

"If the USSR can send a rocket to the moon with such accuracy and timing — how much easier to send a rocket with a nuclear warhead to New York, San Francisco or Vancouver," he reasoned.

He pledged the support of the national Liberal organization to External Affairs Minister Howard Green in his work at UN.

Canada should press for an international agreement that nuclear weapons should be limited to ownership by only those powers who already have them—England, Russia, United States and France.

"It's bad enough for four nations—but terrible if it were 25 or 30 nations, including some feverish dictatorships."

He felt Canada should perhaps also decide whether the risks inherent in atomic weapons are worth the gamble. If there is danger of fall-out, "perhaps we should not accept them or use them in our forces."

Though regarded as a nuisance, the common house spider gobbles quantities of flies, mosquitoes and moths.

DISTRICT ELECTIONS ON SATURDAYS BACKED

KELOWNA (CP) — Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention delegates Wednesday approved a resolution, from Saanich, asking election dates be set for Saturdays in district municipalities but turned down another for the same change in cities, towns and villages.

Municipal elections are currently held on Thursdays in all areas.

TAX RELIEF FOR HOMES OF OLD FOLK PROMISED

KELOWNA (CP) — Municipal Affairs Minister Black said Wednesday he will recommend mandatory tax exemption for senior citizens' homes.

He said despite allowance under present legislation for municipalities to grant such an exemption, less than 50 per cent of the homes are exempted.

"This is hardly fair to the valiant efforts of public spirited citizens to supply adequate housing for old folk," he said.

Battle of Britain Dinner Set Saturday

About 80 members of the Air Force Officers' Association will attend a Battle of Britain commemorative dinner at 6.30 Saturday, at 1212 Quadra Street.

The speaker will be Air Commodore Allan H. Hull, of Vancouver, who served with the Western Air Command in Victoria during the war.

Sunday morning, members of the 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron, the squadron band and 60 members of the Kinsmen Squadron, Air Cadets, will attend special services at the Metropolitan United Church. After services they will parade to the Cenotaph at the Legislative Buildings, where a wreath will be laid.

Black Warns UBCM Policy Would Cause 'Inequalities'

KELOWNA (CP) — Municipal Affairs minister Black warned Wednesday proposals to bring municipal resources and municipal commitments into balance would lead to serious inequalities between civic governments.

Mr. Black, who addressed the convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities here, was referring to a UBCM policy statement on provincial-municipal financial relations adopted at its 1958 conference.

The proposals, he said, suffered from an apparent failure to recognize that any proposed solution had to give due regard to the fact that municipalities very widely in taxable wealth and tax-raising ability.

"The present basis of sharing school costs recognizes local taxpaying ability. While in the over-all the government undertakes to pay half the cost of education, in individual cases this ranges from zero to 90 per cent.

"It therefore follows that if the province were to assume the total cost of education as proposed, the wealthy areas would benefit greatly while the poorer areas would benefit little."

DISPARITY INEVITABLE

The minister said while he does not think the government would necessarily attempt to compensate completely for this disparity in taxable wealth, he did not think it should take action which would tend to increase the disparity. The latter would be one of the inevitable results of implementing the UBCM proposals.

The action of municipal councils in looking for more money to finance projects without recourse to increased local taxation was understandable. But the government had little tax leeway left under the present agreement with the federal government.

Mr. Black said a UBCM proposal that the province assume full financial responsibility for education would be a backward step.

"Obviously, if the province were to take over education, no local choice or decision would be left," he said.

Winners of the weekly tournament of the Victoria unit, American Contract Bridge League last week were: 1, Eric Goodwin, Jim Duprau; 2, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. McAvoy; 3 tie, Laura Tingley, George Metcalfe and Mr. and Mrs. Q. E. Lewis.

ENROLMENTS RISE SHARPLY IN HIGHER GRADES

By JOHN MIKA

A new building program of at least two junior-senior high schools is indicated by a record-breaking enrolment of 21,269 pupils in the Greater Victoria school system.

This year's total enrolment is 1,030 larger than last year. Significantly, 805 of the additional pupils are in the 11 high schools while the other 225 are distributed among 35 elementary schools.

Enrolments have jumped all along the line, rising more steeply in the higher grades. The 2,095 enrolled in Grade 1 represents an increase of 8 per cent; at the other end of the scale, the 871 Grade 12 students represent an increase of 14 per cent.

So far there are classes for everyone except for the temporary shift system at Esquimalt High School. This will be eliminated when the new Esquimalt Senior High School is opened, probably in January.

The 436-pupil increase at the junior high school level has put a tight squeeze on S. J. Willis and Lansdowne units. Result is accommodation of three Grade 7 classes in Oaklands Elementary School and another in Doncaster Elementary.

The situation will be cleared up with construction of four more classrooms at S. J. Willis and opening of a new Gordon Head Junior High School, probably next fall, will siphon off some 300 students.

Meanwhile, addition of another floor to Mount Douglas High School will head off increasing pressure there.

Classroom increases at Glanford Elementary and Oak Bay High School will ease the situation in those areas.

And that will complete the $4,470,000 building program approved by ratepayers. Result — classroom expansion just barely keeping pace with school population increases to the end of 1960.

Unless more classrooms are planned, the expanding school population will burst its seams, especially in the upper grades, within a year after the current building program winds up.

The impending bottleneck in the high school level is caused by the wave of post-war "bumper baby crops" —which forced a dramatic expansion of elementary schools—now flooding the junior and senior high school grades.

A projection of school population increases made in 1955 predicted today's trend but fell short in actual estimates.

This year's enrolments in the three levels, with the estimate made five years ago in brackets, are: elementary, 12,552 (12,268); junior high, 5,275 (4,949); and senior high, 3,442 (3,273).

WEST GERMAN DEFENCE HEAD COMING HERE

West German Defence Minister Strauss will visit Victoria for a brief inspection of military installations towards the end of the month.

He will spend 10 days in Canada, arriving Sept. 22, accompanied by air force chief Gen. Joseph Kammhuber.

Defence Minister George Pearkes said the visit was to acquaint Mr. Strauss "with the general Canadian scene and particularly with defence matters of mutual interest."

Senior Housing $28 Grant Asked

He suggested that the pro-

vincial government should pay the $28 homeowner's grant on each dwelling unit in Victoria's low-rent housing developments for senior citizens.

Mr. Black, addressing the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in Kelowna Wednesday, said he will try to obtain legislation compelling municipalities to exempt such developments from municipal taxes.

That would mean a loss of about $15,000 in Victoria taxes each year, guessed Ald. Dowell here.

"Since many of the persons in these developments come from outside areas, that would mean that Victoria taxpayers would be subsidizing the elderly persons in the whole Greater Victoria area which is unfair," he said.

WHY NOT?

"If the provincial government is so anxious to help these developments—and they are very worthy—why doesn't it extend to them the same assistance it gives other homeowners through the $28 grant?

"Giving a grant for each dwelling unit would help the associations greatly without putting an unfair burden on the municipalities."

Community, Political Figure Dies

Eugene J. Diespecker, 60, well-known figure in the military, business, and political life of this area, died suddenly today at his home, 1170 Camrose Crescent.

He had been in good health until last spring, when he was ill for a while. He returned to work, however, and was on vacation at the time of his death.

He was best known here as a member of the firm of Jameson Motors Ltd., where he started work 36 years ago. He became service manager at the firm 25 years ago.

TWICE ELECTED

Mr. Diespecker was elected twice to Saanich council, then resigned in November, 1957, in the middle of his second term, to contest the Saanich reeveship held by Arthur Ash. Against amalgamation at the time, he was defeated by a narrow margin.

Although he never ran for council again, he served on the Saanich court of revision and won acclaim for his work.

Born in South Africa, he arrived in Victoria in 1908 with his family, and joined the old 5th Regiment as a trumpeter. He went on active service in August, 1914, and went overseas with the 48th Battalion as a bugler, serving at Ypres, the Somme, Vimy Ridge, Passchendale and Hill 70. He later transferred to the RAF, returning to Victoria after the peace.

HELPED BOY SCOUTS

In the Second World War he was field security officer on the headquarters staff of the 8th Canadian Division.

He gave considerable time to the PTA movement and to the Boy Scouts.

Surviving are the widow, Margaret, at home; a son, Eugene, studying for the ministry at UBC; and a daughter, Jill, in training at Vancouver General Hospital. All were together only last week at the Diespecker summer home on Cowichan River.

Also surviving are three brothers, Louis C., in the Orient; Durbyn, in South Africa; and Dick, the youngest, well-known writer and radio figure, now in California. The oldest brother, R. E. A. Diespecker, died in 1948. The four older brothers served in the First World War, and all five served in the Second World War.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Haywards.

8 Liberals May Seek Victoria Nominations

PARTY CHIEF MAY CONTEST SEAT IN CITY

He is reported considering the possibility of entering the legislature via the area which elected two of the three Liberals now in the legislature.

A highly-placed Victoria Liberal said today the leader had not yet made up his mind.

Mr. Perrault is a member of the Vancouver Kingsway Liberal group, lives in Vancouver East electoral district, but is in the process of moving.

'CARPETBAGGER'

Greater Victoria is home to Victoria MLA George Gregory (House leader) and Oak Bay MLA P. A. Gibbs. The third elected member is J. Melvin Bryan, who was elected as a Social Credit member for North Vancouver. He became an independent in 1957 over dispute with the government in handling of the Sommers case. Last session he joined the Liberal party.

Some local Liberals feel that although party support is stronger in this area than in many sections of B.C., Mr. Perrault may be considered an outsider, or in the words of one official, "a carpetbagger."

On the other hand, the prospect of having the party leader as a representative of this area, is considered an enticement in some quarters.

Activity Reflects Looming Election

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

The Victoria Liberal Association, in the face of a probable election next spring, is combing its ranks for candidates to stand with city MLA and Liberal house leader George Gregory.

Names of five nominees, perhaps eight, will be placed before a meeting of the association executive Monday.

They are Mr. Gregory; Dr. A. E. Trottier, Victoria surgeon; former MLA Capt. D. J. Proudfoot; former candidate and present city alderman Geoffrey Edgelow, and city lawyer and former British Columbia Power Commission member, Forrest L. Shaw. Several others listed by the nominating committee have yet to be approached.

contest within the party seems assured. The executive will announce the date of a nominating convention.

The extent of the pre-election excitement was obvious as well over 200 party adherents gathered at a "reception" for the national Liberal leader, Lester B. Pearson, at Holyrood House, Wednesday night.

Although billed as a reception, the gathering took on all the earmarks of an election meeting, from the hearty standing ovation for the national leader to the spirited talk by provincial leader Ray Perrault.

Long after Mr. Pearson and Mr. Perrault had completed their talks, the audience remained in the hall, assessing their future chances over coffee and doughnuts and quietly signing inter-party nomination papers

Mass Demonstration to Spark Fervor

Election speculation was given added flavor by the platform announcement of provincial party leader Perrault that there will be "a mass Liberal demonstration" in Vancouver October 13 at Queen Elizabeth auditorium.

He called on Island members of the party to attend, promising, "We are going to have a few surprises." He said the meeting is aimed at telling the people of B.C. "what kind of Liberal administration they will have."

It was the second occasion this week that opposition parties showed disbelief for Premier Bennett's statement that an election in B.C. could still be delayed as late as the spring of 1961.

It was learned earlier that Victoria Conservatives will hold an executive meeting before the end of this month to consider their list of probable candidates. At least three names are now said to be in the hat, foremost among them, the name of one-time Coalition finance minister Herbert Anscomb.

Oak Bay Tories had earlier settled on their choice to challenge incumbent member P. A. Gibbs. They named James A. A. George last spring, in expectation of an election this fall. Deane Finlayson, provincial leader, says 20 provincial candidates will be fielded before the party's annual meeting at Harrison Hot Springs, Oct. 24 and 25.

Members of both parties are now pinning hopes on a spring election in 1960. They say Premier Bennett claims to be free of direct debt and accordingly will have, he says, $25,000,000 to spend next year to improve public welfare. They feel his budget in the next session will be packed with items aimed at collecting votes—items such as additional aid to the elderly and an increase in the home owners' grant.

Policy Speech By Bennett Watched

The same feeling of impending contest was evident to a degree at a meeting Monday of Victoria Social Crediters. Some saw hints of a spring election in a speech given then by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

All parties will be watching for further signs at the annual Social Credit convention at Vancouver Oct. 30 and 31. Premier Bennett is bound to make at least one policy speech concerning future intentions of his government.

One of B.C.'s biggest projects stands in the offing—development of the Peace River Power Development Company scheme to harness the Peace. With this is linked the other Wenner-Gren project, the construction of a railway now expected to lead north from Prince George to the Yukon and eventually to connect with Alaska.

If Peace River Power files its plans in form of a certificate of feasibility for the scheme, with the water rights branch before the end of December, it may take three months to a year before the investigations of the branch are complete and the company gets an official go-ahead.

Then, say observers, it is logical the company would want assurance a friendly government, one not opposed to private power development, as are the Liberals and CCF, will be in power for the next four years.

Then, they say, Premier Bennett will call an election. And neither the Liberals nor Conservatives intend to be caught with their candidates down.

TAKING COMMAND of the Esquimalt-based minesweeper HMCS Miramichi on Oct. 9 will me Lt.-Cmdr. Robert Knox Niven, 34, formerly of Toronto and now of Ottawa. Miramichi is attached to the Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron.

USN Warship No Beauty, But Useful

A warship which is strictly business and anything but a beauty docked at HMCS Naden this morning for a four-day visit.

Her role is to act as parent ship and repair ship for landing craft and coastal craft. Gunston Hall is 457 feet long, 72 feet wide, and designed especially for the purposes of her job.

The well deck runs three quarters the length of the ship. The stern is absolutely square, and opens up like the gates of a drydock to take in landing craft for maintenance and repair.

Gunston Hall can carry 18 landing craft medium in the well deck. In addition, a smaller landing craft vehicle-personnel can be nested in each LCM, so the parent ship can carry a total of 36 "children" at a time.

She was built in 1943 and saw service in the Pacific. In 1949, she was adapted for service in the Arctic.

4 Months' Jail For TV Theft, False Pretences

Gordon Bulmer, 935 North Park, in city court today was sentenced to four months in Oakalla for theft and four months for false pretences, sentences to run concurrently.

He had stolen a TV set from a household and sold it at an auction room for $40. Bulmer was also guilty of passing a $25 phony cheque at a supermarket.

Magistrate William Ostler said the accused's trouble obviously stemmed from "excessive" use of alcohol.

He was convicted of a similar charge in 1953.

Circumstances were that Aitken stalled his car at Johnson and Vancouver about 1.15 p.m. Wednesday, and when started again shot backwards in reverse and hit another car.

He was charged after police investigation and a sobriety test.

SHOPPING GUIDE

By PENNY SAVER

What most of us are doing these days is bringing out last year's fall and winter wardrobes and giving them a good going over.

It's a time when a well-furnished sewing box is an absolute must. Did those sharp and clean sewing scissors survive the summer? If not, there's a new shipment of Sheffield steel scissors in town. Prices are amazingly low.

Good-sized scissors cost only 59 cents. Large size, for every use in sewing or for kitchen, cost $1.

What about needles? None of the right size around? Penny went snooping today and found a folder with 100 needles, of every size and kind needed for general sewing and mending. Good percentage of the needles are in a medium size with eyes large enough to be threaded easily. Also included are darning needles and fine needles for delicate mending.

For good measure, a needle threader comes in the folder, too. Needle eyes are of Swedish steel, rustproof.

P.S.—Hair spray running low? Now's the time to get down town. A shop is selling out a basketful of hair sprays for half price! Well-known brands are here and you can have a good, large size for as little as 50 cents. Give me a ring at EV 2-3131 for the name of the store.

THE BETTER HALF — by Bob Barnes

The teen-ager who is plagued by long, fine, straight hair (left) can do something about it. Most likely, it should be shampooed twice a week since fine hair tends to cling to the head and give an impression of sparseness. Rolling it up every night, if you haven't a permanent, will help to give it body and fullness. Another help lies in styling. This teen-ager (centre) has had her old hairdo restyled. Spiked bangs spread across the forehead; the ends are loosely curled and secured at the back with a big bow. Her eyebrows have been carefully plucked into a celar line and very lightly pencilled. For parties, her new hairdo can be combed (right) with bangs drawn circular fashion across the forehead and secured with a miniature nosegay. Hair should be lightly dampened first and sprayed to hold it in place. Ends are brushed under in a loose semblance of a page boy. Basis for any hairdo is, of course, proper cutting and shaping.

Teens Learn New Twists of Neat Coiffure

Every girl in her teens wants to look as pretty as she can. She knows the importance of good looks both at school and in her social activities.

She is careful about the selection of her clothes, choosing the colors and styles that do the most for her. But often she runs into difficulties when it comes to make-up and hairstyles.

Unfortunately, long, fine, straight hair is what many gals have. And it's a problem that takes special handling.

You must, of course, expect to spend extra time on your hair. To give it body, fine hair must be kept especially clean, and may require two shampoos a week. If you don't want a permanent, you must roll up the ends every night. Then, if you "anchor" one or more parts of the hairstyle, it can be both neat and pretty.

What is termed an "anchor" can be shortened front hair, made to stay in place in a variety of bangs, or it can be a hair bow or pert nosegay.

The curled ends can be flared forward and up into casual brushed out arrangements, or under in a page boy style. Either will give the look of fuller hair. Where make-up is concerned, we suggest that you use your favorite red lipstick and tone it down with white applied over the red. Only add enough color to bring out the full contour of your mouth so that it looks as though it were a naturally glowing accent.

There is no reason why you shouldn't bring out the beauty of your eyes with carefully arched brows and luxuriant lashes. If your brows are very light, pencil them delicately with a medium brown pencil and use short, upward strokes. Then blend the pencil with a brush.

For parties, mascara can be used on the upper lashes only. At other times, the luxuriant look can be achieved by using petroleum jelly or cream and brushing the lashes upward.

Don't forget that all beauty is based on cleanliness. Keep your complexion as free of dirt as possible, and use only a light dusting powder, permitting the texture of your skin to show through.

You'll be well on your way to popularity if you give your appearance the care it needs so that you present the best picture of yourself to your friends.

Hemline Battle Wages In Paris Style Houses

Silhouettes range from slim tubes for daytime suits and dresses to tunic effects, fairly bulky coats, and some odd shapes for evening.

Suit jackets, generally are longer, and the waistline is just about where the waistline is. On dresses it is usually fitted or belted. On suits it's semi-slack.

The season's favorite color is black, prevalent in all collections. For those who don't like black, there are browns, grey, beige, blue (usually royal), green, and a whole range of red-purples.

Favored materials are soft "canvas" woollens, slightly hairy surfaces for daytime, and satin, velvet and lame brocades for evening wear.

In the bidding this time are Dior's "paper bag" skirt with tight knee cuff, designed by young Yves St. Laurent; Hein's "test tube" silhouette for day wear and "goblet" for evening; the ballooning sleeves designer Jules Cranay made for Nina Ricci; Pierre Cardin's long-jacketed tunic suits and new color shadings; and the new over-vest presented by Guy Laoche.

Also possible trend-setters are Pierre Dalmain's "lotus" line, with stem-like straight skirts and "B" bustline, Patou's front-split hemline, and everybody's Sherlock Holmes coats, fur trimmings and tunic effects.

Diplomacy, Modesty and Humor Parts of Nina Khrushchev's Manner

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soft-spoken Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev already has given Americans several glimpses into her little-known personality.

Nina Petrovna, out in the big world for the first time, has turned out to be neither as shy as Americans expected nor as venturesome as the state department anticipated.

In three days of being wel-comed, feted, and whisked around town, she has shown moments of humor, diplomatic tact, common sense and motherliness.

Mrs. Khrushchev surprised reporters by submitting with ease to an inundation of questions ranging from her personal life to her impressions of Washington and Mamie Eisenhower.

It was her first direct contact with the relentless American press. Yet, she made no effort to shrug off her questioners and seemed to enjoy the informality of it all, for a while at least.

She proved herself to be more flexible and accommodating to the demands made on her than her two stepdaughters, Rada and Yulia. They would not answer questions and occasionally felt they had to rescue their mother.

When her husband was asked on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial to compare Moscow with Washington, Mrs. Khrushchev commented that a comparison really was out of order. "Moscow is Moscow and Washington is Washington," she said, "and they both have their beauty."

Her sense of humor was sparked by a suggestion from one American that she, Nina Petrovna, was the effective boss of the Khrushchev family.

She quipped, "Only the American reporters think so." It sounded like a remark that Nikita himself might have made.

Her modesty is becoming, but it has not satisfied the American curiosity as to just how much influence the gentle woman exerts on her husband.

When she and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, wife of the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, entered the auditorium at Beltsville, Md., for a lecture on plant research, they found only one seat had been reserved. Mrs. Khrushchev refused to sit down until a seat had been obtained for Mrs. Lodge.

Mrs. Khrushchev described Mamie Eisenhower as a "courteous and kind lady and a good hostess." She said she and her husband were "happy to be her guests," referring to the White House dinner Tuesday in their honor.

"I would be glad to receive her in the USSR," Mrs. Khrushchev said. But she added that she did not yet know whether Mrs. Eisenhower would accompany the President on his exchange visit to Moscow later this fall.

Beverley Helen Hinton Married In St. Luke's Anglican Church

On the evening of her father's birthday, Beverley Helen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hap Hinton of Gordon Head, became the bride of Terence John Holland, son of Mrs. W. H. Puddicome of Simon Road, and the late John Holland, London, Eng.

Rev. T. D. B. Ragg officiated at the double-ring service in St. Luke's Anglican Church, where the bride taught Sunday school and took part in various parish activities for many years.

A gown of ivory brocaded satin was worn by the fair-haired bride as she entered the church on the arm of her father. Fashioned on princess lines, dress had a deep V neckline and long lily point sleeves. Her seed pearl coronet held a fine nylon net fingertip veil. Only jewelry was a pearl necklace. She carried a cascade of pink roses and white heather.

Maid of honor, Miss Pamela Elliott, and the bride's two sisters, Miss Darleen Hinton and Miss Sharyn Hinton, bridesmaids, wore taffeta gowns in waltz length. Gowns had bateau necklines with V at back, dropped waistlines and full skirts. Miss Elliott and Miss Sharyn Hinton were in green tones and Miss Darleen Hinton, copper tone. They all carried bouquets of chrysanthemums and wore matching chrysanthemum bandeaux.

Best man was Geoffrey Castle and ushers were David Spilsbury and Fred Hogkinson.

R. Iverson proposed toast to the bride at the reception in Uplands Golf Club. A three-tier wedding cake flanked by vases of pink roses and candelabra, centred bridal table.

A sapphire blue silk crepe print dress in sheath style was worn by the bride's mother. Her hat was of blue feathers and she had a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Puddicome wore a sea green lace sheath style dress with black hat and a corsage of yellow roses.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to Washington and Idaho, the new Mrs. Holland donned an avacado green wool suit with matching feather hat. Her jewelry was an aurora borealis pin, gift of the groom. She had a corsage of white gardenias.

Couple will make their home in Victoria.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, Sept. 17th. — You'll bless the day . . . you heard about Wampole's VITA-POPS. Believe me, they're a wonderful way for youngsters to get the vitamins they need for growth and good health — for Vita-Pops look, and taste, like candy! They've got a delicious wild-cherry flavor that children love — yet in every one are 8 precious vitamins — including vitamins A, C, D and B12. Give each child one Vita-Pop a day — and feel serene about vitamin requirements for that day! Best way, I suggest, is to get a 5 weeks' supply of Vita-Pops for $2.50, or if there's more than one child in the family, a 15 weeks' supply for only $5.95.

TREAT BREAKFAST with the respect it deserves . . . it's the meal that begins the day! Make it important with RED RIVER CEREAL, the hot 'n' tasty cereal that perks up sleepy appetites. Red River, with its delicious blending of cracked wheat, rye and flax, adds energy values to the diet of youngsters and active workers, and guards regularity for older folks and sedentary workers. And it cooks in just a few minutes. Some mothers like to cook it before bedtime . . . heat it up in a double boiler in the morning. Do order Red River Cereal this week!

YOUR GUESTS WILL DECLARE you have a chef's magic touch when you serve them ROYAL INSTANT PUDDING this delightful way. Yes, Royal Instant Puddings have given us another inspired dessert suggestion, which guests and family will heartily and hungrily applaud. Here 'tis . . . Use one quart jar or shaker with secure top. Pour in two cups of cold milk. Add contents of any Royal Instant Pudding package. Cover. Shake until mixed—takes barely one minute. Remove cover. Pour into dishes. Let stand about five minutes until set. An extra treat when topped with appropriate fresh or preserved fruit!

It worked so well for me this year that tomorrow I'm opening a special account for next year's holidays. If lack of ready money spoiled your fun this year, why not plan the best vacation ever for next year. All you have to do is open your "Sunshine" account at the B of M and keep adding to it at regular intervals. Don't delay, see the B of M today!

MEMO TO CAREER WOMEN ABOUT GOOD FOOD. You like it easy to prepare, of course, and I'm sure you like it tasty. You see, they're grown on carefully selected Canadian farms. Then, when they've reached perfection, Aylmer rushes them, fresh-harvested, to nearby canneries—seals and cooks them, often within an hour for that sunshine-fresh Aylmer flavor. Such good food!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today, Middle Age Has All But Disappeared!

In lots of ways today there is good news indeed for the over-forty boys and girls, for that is the way we think of them now. In years past a woman was practically on the shelf at the age of 35. Today middle age has all but disappeared. People are young until they are old and that takes a long time!

Josephine

When middle age did exist there also existed a theory that proteins in the diet should be cut low from middle age on. This left many men and women deficient in calcium, iron and protein by the age of 60 and resulted in premature aging.

Eighteen per cent of our total body weight is protein and protein is the main building material of the body. We need protein for physical repair and maintenance. Experiments have shown that the aging process is speeded up by an inadequate protein intake. The main protein foods are meat, fish, sea food, milk, cheese and eggs.

It is true that we require fewer calories as we grow older, but the high grade, essential foods are even more important to us than ever. Yet many men and women eat carelessly at mid life and later. They may even live alone and lack the incentive to plan and prepare adequate meals. Also they may have lost some teeth and failed to have them replaced by dentures. Therefore it may be difficult to chew many foods.

Missing teeth should be replaced not ony because of appearance but because of the above factor. If you simply cannot have dentures, you should at least eat sieved vegetables and meat so that your nutrition does not become inadequate.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Watchwords of Science for Youth After Forty," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request for leaflet No. 61 to Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

Miss Yung Mei Tang returns to London, Eng., where she is continuing her studies in economics.

Bride Wears Brocade Gown

Candle white brocade in rose pattern formed the beautiful gown worn by Miss Lois Dianne Egan for her marriage recently to Thomas George Heppell. Fashioned on princess lines with chapel train, gown had a Queen Anne collar and lily point sleeves. A finger tip veil was held by a coronet of pearls. Bride carried a bouquet of pink rosettes, stephanotis and ivy.

Wedding took place in United Church, Bolton, Ont., for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Egan of Bolton and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thomas Heppell of Victoria.

Rev. Emerson G. Knowles officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor, Miss Doreen Richardson, wore an angel-blue organza gown and matching headdress. She held a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, pink gladioli and rosettes. Little Deborah Egan as flower girl wore a white organza frock with blue sash and carried a bouquet of flowers similar to that carried by Miss Richardson.

Best man was James Keachie and ushers Paul Egan and William Hutchinson. Ring bearer was Dwight Egan.

A reception was held in Bolton Golf and Country Club, Bolton. For the wedding trip to St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B., bride wore a champagne Chantilly lace ensemble and brown accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

DEAR ABBY . . .

It's Been Done Before!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I eat in restaurants frequently and do not have a very hearty appetite. The portions are always too much for me to eat at one sitting; so I am tempted to ask the waitress to please put my left-overs in a sack for me to take home. The food is good and it seems a pity to waste it. Is this considered bad manners? SMALL EATER.

DEAR SMALL: Not at all. I have done it on occasion. And I'm dog-goned if I will say, "It's for my dog!"

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Tell me, please, how a boy can tell you in one breath that he loves you and the in the next breath say, "But I think we should break up because we are getting too serious?"

This is my problem, Dear Abby. I am 15 years old and he is 17 and we have gone steady for ten months. I know you are going to say that I am too young to know my own mind, but this is the boy I intend to marry.

How can I hurry things up? I am willing to quit school and go to work and let him finish high school. How can I get him to keep seeing me? I love him so much I don't think I could live without him.

SANDY.

DEAR SANDY: No wonder he is looking for an escape hatch! He senses your eagerness to get married and he is smart enough to know that he is much too young. He simply wants to find a way to drop you without hurting you. Finish your own education and don't crowd your young mind with thoughts of marriage now. You have much growing up to do.

Millinery Show

A fall Millinery Show is being presented by the Y's Menettes Club, Saturday in the YMCA Blanshard Street. T. Eaton Company is presenting hats for the show which starts at 2.30 p.m. There will be a home-cooking stall and tea will be served. Mrs. S. Cannon is general convener.

Convener—Mrs. E. Worthington was elected Empire and World Affairs convener at a recent meeting of HMS Ganges Chapter, IODE, held in Mahon Hall, Ganges. Mrs. H. C. Giegerich presided. Mrs. Earl Hardie was new member welcomed. A balance of $217.83 was reported by treasurer. A letter was read stating IODE Emerson House in Vancouver for senior citizens had been sold and a larger home purchased.

Nutritious Macaroni Meal Tops With Teen-Agers

When you're entertaining teen-agers, be prepared to serve plenty of food. Studies show that teen-agers have higher nutritive requirements than any other age group—and they have appetities to match. If you're planning a meal for the high school crowd, it's a good idea to include a hearty dish such as this "Savory Macaroni Casserole" in menu.

Complete menu with a big green salad, a platter of sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, ripe olives, and toasted French bread. This is another recipe featured for "Better Meals Build Better Families."

SAVORY MACARONI CASSEROLE

Three cups water, 8 ounces (½-pound) uncooked macaroni, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons instant minced onion, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, ⅓ cup sifted all-purpose flour, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 cups milk and water from cooking macaroni, 1½ cups cubed cheese.

Bring water to full boil. Stir in macaroni, ½ teaspoon salt, celery and onion. Cook until macaroni is tender; drain and save liquid. Melt butter, stir in flour, remaining 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Add liquid (use remaining water from cooking macaroni plus milk to make 2 cups); cook and stir until smooth and thickened. combine with macaroni and cheese and turn into buttered casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes.

Makes 6 servings.

HATS FOR AFTERNOON WEDDINGS

Is it necessary to wear a hat to a late afternoon wedding in a Protestant church? Also, is it permissible to wear a sleeveless dress?

Louise Davis answers:

A hat should always be worn at a daytime wedding even if it is but a suggestion of a hat or some kind of head covering, such as veiling, a bandeau or flowers. I suggest that if one is wearing a sleeveless dress that the top be covered with a jacket or a stole, which can be removed if attending the reception.

HIS GRIN'S BUILT-IN — "Bobbie," 14-year-old dachshund, is the dog with the smile that's returned for awhile. His dental-technician mistress, Mrs. Ellie Godel of Millbrae, Calif., fitted the pooch with his uppers. The crocodile-like grin results from the fact that the lowers are yet to come, once two old snags have been extracted.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Cannadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Is There An East Pole and a West Pole?

There is a north pole and a south pole but there are no east and west poles. This is because the world is a big ball, turning like a top on its axis. When a top turns, there is an up and a down, but the sides turn around in an endless circle. So it is with the earth.

The earth's axis is an up-and-down line clear through the middle. It is as if this imaginary line were still and the rest of the big globe turned around it like a pin on a stick. At the top of the axis is the north pole, at the bottom of the axis is the south pole.

If you could stick a stake in the exact centre of the north pole, you could watch it turn slowly around once in every 24 hours. A half-a mile south of the north pole, the stake would make a circle one mile wide every 24 hours. Part of the time this stake could be on the east side and part of the time on the west side of the pole. But it would always be south of the north pole because nothing on earth can get further north than the north pole. Nothing can get further south than the south pole.

We can draw imaginary circles around the earth, all parallel with our little circle around the north pole. We call them parallels, or lines of latitude. The further we get from the poles, the bigger these circles become. When we are exactly half way between the two poles we are at the equator, the wide waist of the world. This is the biggest circle, marked on the map as latitude 0 degrees.

From the equator to each pole is a quarter circle or 90 degrees. The parallels are numbered 0 to 90 degrees north and 0 to 90 degrees south of the equator. All of these circles spin around with the earth making rings without beginnings or ends. They can tell us the directions of the north and south poles, but they cannot tell us east and west for these directions change as the earth turns.

Only Poles Stationary

The lines of longitude reach from pole to pole. They cut across the lines of latitude and divide them into east and west. Both the lines of latitude and longitude are man-made, based on the positions of the two poles. Only the two poles are fixed by nature. They give us the north and south directions, but east and west we must figure out for ourselves. Every spot on the earth is east of some place and west of some place.

Our calendar is based on the fact that the earth turns around once every 24 hours. In order to divide it into dates, we must choose a special spot for each day to begin. The nations of the world decided on the International Dateline which runs through the Pacific Ocean from pole to pole. We may say that one side of the Dateline is east and the other side west, but we cannot say that it is the east or west pole. The north and south poles are fixed by nature, but the east and west directions spin around with the world.

* * *

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Mary Sue Linnenhamp, age 10, of Sigourney, Iowa, for her question:

How long are the summer days in Alaska?

The bulky land mass of Alaska reaches almost a thousand miles north and south. This means that there are great seasonal differences between the northern and southern regions. Almost a third of Alaska, however, is within the Arctic Circle and must therefore see the midnight sun for at least a few days during the summer.

At Point Barrow, the northernmost point of Alaska, one summer day lasts for almost 2,000 hours. For in the bleak region of the Arctic Sea the sun does not set for 82 days. Further south, near the Yukon River in the centre of the state, a few summer days last for 20 hours. The sun dips below the horizon at 10 o'clock at night and rises at 2 o'clock in the morning.

Still further south, a few summer days last from 14 to 18 hours. But remember, all these long hours of sunlight are taken away in the winter. Point Barrow has 82 days when the sun does not rise at all. The central Yukon area has a few winter days of only four hours daylight.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — New York's swinging again — now that Joe E. Lewis is at the Copacabana, Jack Carter's at the Latin Quarter — and visitors June Allyson, Esther Williams, Cary Grant, Gene Barry, Mel Ferrer and Audrey Hepburn are all over town.

Khrushchev was gag fodder for both Lewis and Carter in their openings. Referring to Mr. K's drinking habits, Lewis said, "Khrushchev is the Joe E. Lewis of the Ukraine."

"Better not let Khrushchev take a walk in Central Park," warned Carter, adding that he lives near there and on a clear day can see the stabbings.

Lewis gems included: "With elections coming up, the Democrats don't know whether they should lose the third time with Stevenson or the first time with Kennedy . . . Show me a man who can hold his liquor, and I'll show you a serious kidney condition . . . When we were kids we never heard of juvenile delinquents — we were already full-fledged criminals . . . If my jokes appear a little old, don't forget, I'm no kid any more."

Jack Carter attained greatness, especially when he kidded Harry Belafonte and Jose Greco. He called Billy Eckstine "the Holland Tunnel with lips" and said Lauritz Melchior "looks like Helen Traubel in a tuxedo." Complaining of the way New York's torn up, he said, "I don't know what Wagner's looking for, but wherever O'Dwyer hid it, he'll never find it."

* * *

June Allyson, here plugging her CBS TV series, told me her voice is so deep that when she asked a hotel clerk, "Is there any mail for Dick Powell?" the clerk, without looking up, replied, "No sir, Mr. Powell, there isn't."

* * *

Jackie Gleason is stopping the show ("Take Me Along") in Boston when he proposes marriage to Eileen Herlie — also when he and Walter Pidgeon do a soft-shoe dance. The show has the warmth of "Music Man" and looks like a smash hit. "Gleason is sensational doing the soft-shoe number," reports a friend who saw the show, "but don't get me wrong — he's no Gene Kelly."

* * *

The travel boom has N.Y. hotels jammed. Bill Zeckendorf's Drake Hotel came up with two suites for Eddie Fisher and Liz Taylor (one for the three children and nurse) — but it wasn't easy. A Pan-Am executive told me that since the jet rush they spend most of their time trying to arrange seat space on their own airline for friends.

* * *

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . Everything's a little French now. The new St. Regis show, "Viva La Difference," a revue is based on the old French joke, but Gloria Hudson, one of the beauties, is from Philadelphia . . . The Friars and Lambs are upset that the Robert Moses office somehow neglected to invite them to the Geo. M. Cohan statue unveiling.

Author Marion Hargrove's rushing to Boston to play doctor in the Henry Hull show "Happy Town" . . . Comic Alan King, who lost $40,000 at the crap tables last time he worked in Las Vegas, returns to the Tropicana Sept. 30 — to work, not play . . . The Maguire Sisters will join the Jack Benny TV special Nov. 7.

Marge and Gower Champion wanted to film a dance sequence in Moscow's gaudy marble subway stations, but the comrades said nope . . . Eve Arden said at the Playbill she'll sing and dance on the Cyd Charisse show . . . Mama Gabor attended an Easthampton party wearing a pink cowboy suit, with shorts . . . Corinne Calvet's date at Erika's was film producer Gaston Hakim . . . the day after Mickey Mantle made a rare visit to the Harwyn he got five hits — so shouldn't the Yankees send him to the cafe often?

JUNE ALLYSON

WALTER PIDGEON
. . . soft-shoe man

EARL'S PEARLS: Jesse Kaplan says he saw a British mystery movie — a whomdunit.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: An optimistic dad didn't mind his son flunking at school: "At least it shows he isn't cheating."

I WISH I'D SAID THAT: In Hollywood the only dresses some actresses will be seen in twice are wedding gowns.

This is the time of year when husbands realize there's more to life than merely watching baseball on TV. There's football, too. That's earl, brother.

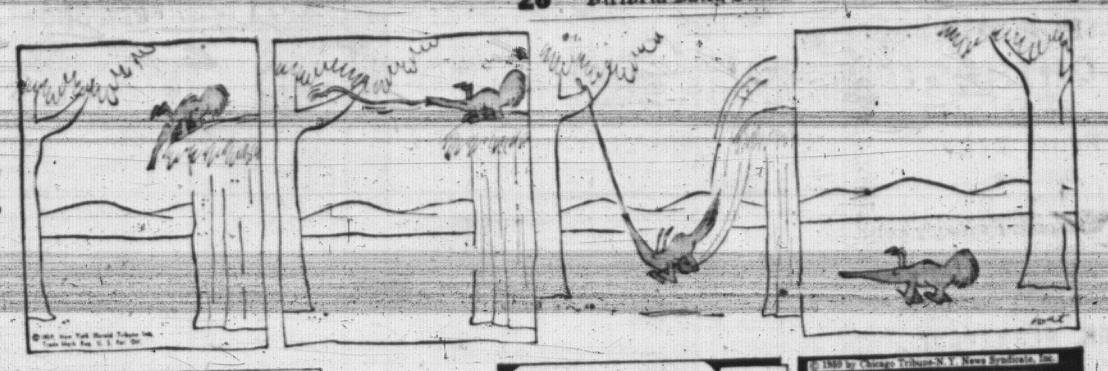
Steacy Has 'No Excuses' For Absence

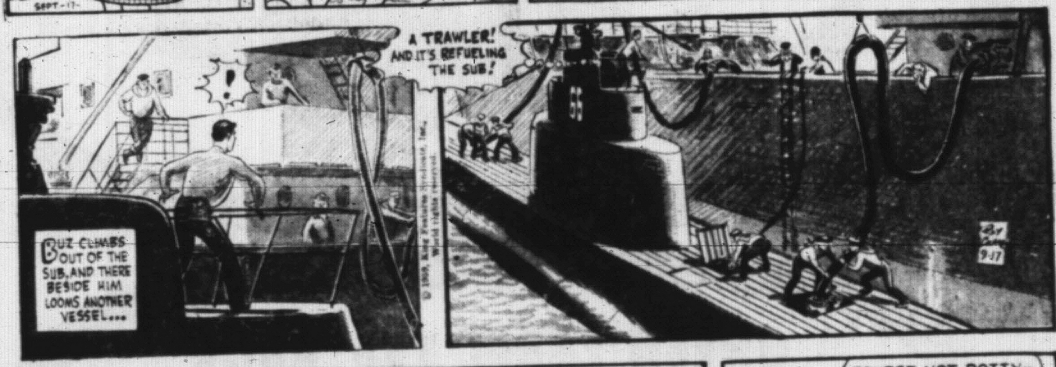
VANCOUVER (CP)—Agriculture Minister Steacy said Wednesday he has been to Guelph, Ont., and Ottawa on government duty and has toured northern British Columbia.

Asked to comment on a speech by CCF Opposition leader Robert Strachan at Salmon Arm Tuesday, he said in an interview he has no excuses to make for any absences from his Victoria office.

Mr. Strachan said the minister was "running around . . . on cloak and dagger work, in an attempt to have Cyril Shelford replaced as Social Credit candidate in Omineca."

Mr. Steacy said: "Typical of a man who doesn't know what is going on. Shelford is one of the best men we've got."





Architects and Engineers Get Canada's Top Wages

OTTAWA (CP)—Consulting engineers and architects in Canada earned an average $14,581 in income during 1957 to keep their ranking as the country's top money-earners and taxpayers.

Employees of farm enterprises were at the bottom of the list of taxpayers, with average incomes of $2,216 in the year, and nurses were only one step higher with average incomes of $2,335.

These figures were published today by the revenue department in a 145-page analysis of the money Canadians earn and the amount they pay in income taxes.

AVERAGE INCOME RISES

It showed the average income of Canadian taxpayers—the book ignores those who don't pay taxes—rose to $3,834 in 1957 from $3,673. On the average they paid $347 in taxes, compared with $330 in 1956.

The number of Canadians in the $100,000-and-over income bracket rose to 453 from 432.

ACCOUNTANTS FOURTH

The top five income rankings were monopolized by professional people. Accountants were fourth with average incomes of $10,879 and dentists fifth at $10,234.

Teachers and professors ranked 13th among occupational classes, right after farmers and fishermen with average incomes of $3,698.

Salesmen, $5,354; business proprietors $5,238; fishermen $3,754; farmers, $3,739.

The main bulk of income tax revenue came from persons listed as employees. Their average incomes in 1957 rose to $3,617 from $3,445.

Union Adds Voice to Bid For Shipwork

An extensive program of ship construction was called for Wednesday night by delegates to the Victoria Labor Council.

Shipbuilding union representatives called on the federal government to build new weatherships to replace present vessels at station PAPA, 1,000 miles in the Pacific.

The union spokesman referred to the converted frigates as "dilapidated tubs," and said it "takes brave men to go out there for six months in them."

Trophies to Create Civic Vote Interest

KELOWNA (CP)—Municipal Affairs Minister Black will award thre trophies to create greater interest in civic elections.

He told the annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities he will award shields in three categories to the communities achieving the highest percentage turnout of electors.

The categories will be cities and towns, districts and villages.

Former crew members of HMCS Prince Henry, when she was a landing ship in European waters, are planning a reunion Sept. 26 at HMCS Discovery, reserve navy establishment at Vancouver.

ONE-BUILDING ADVANTAGES EMPHASIZED

Display Points Out 'Y' Needs

Advantages of combining the YWCA and the YMCA in a new $1,000,000 building in Victoria are emphasized in a joint exhibition at the YWCA on Blanshard Street.

The exhibition is designed to show why the two groups need support from the 1959 Community Chest campaign in Greater Victoria.

"Both groups need more room and that is something we haven't got," said YWCA publicity director Mrs. Sheila Morgan.

"The buildings are too small and too old to do justice to our projects. One larger, centrally-located building would seem to be the answer."

The joint exhibition contains examples of copper work, painting, photography, swimming, gymnastics, badminton, tennis and other creative effort.

Mrs. Morgan said there are six fully-amalgamated YW associations in Canada, and 12 other cities are trying it. Directors of the Victoria groups have agreed in principle and property is being considered.

8 CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Robert Kellie would like to thank the officers and men at Esquimalt Dockyard, all the boys in the machine shop, Mark Russell and Ernie Orchin, all our friends in Victoria for the beautiful flowers and cards. A wonderful help in sorrow and loneliness.

9 IN MEMORIAM

BUCKBOROUGH—In loving memory of our dear father, Bonner M. Buckborough, who passed away suddenly, September 16, 1958.
He was a friend to many,
And to his own proved true,
A better father never lived,
His equal are but few.
Looking back with memories
Along the path he trod,
We bless the years we had with him
And leave the rest to God.
—Lovingly remembered by Thelma, Ruth, Gary, Glen and sons-in-law Bob and Al.

BUCKBOROUGH—In loving memory of my beloved husband, Bonner, who passed away suddenly, September 16, 1958.
One long and lonely year has passed
Since my great sorrow fell;
The shock that I received that day
I still remember well.
My heart still aches with sadness
And secret tears still flow;
What it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
When I am sad and lonely
And all things seem so wrong,
I seem to hear you whisper,
Have Faith and carry on.
Each time I see your photo
You seem to smile and say,
Don't cry, I'm only sleeping,
We'll meet in Heaven some day.
—Cherished memories, Evelyn.

Playhouse 90 Repeats Moving Drama on Alcoholism at 9.30 on 7, 12

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

JUST THINKING—Perhaps it's just that I'm getting old and am piqued that everyone else isn't too. I don't know, but I find some of the current western heroes just too young and handsome for words. Or at least too handsome and too young to be believed. Often they also look too well-pressed and too clean.

"As if we didn't know!"

The old west surely wasn't sterilized or otherwise disinfected. Its people batted flies while they mopped the sweat from their brow. In winter they huddled closer to the fire in the hope of stewing in their own juice. A bath was a red letter day. Deodorants and a sweet breath were awaiting invention along with indoor plumbing, hi-fi, ball point pens, TV and Luniks. Life must have been as primitive as it was demanding.

Peeking at Laramie's new hour-long western Tuesday eve I thought hero John Smith seemed appalingly young and untried. I feel the same about the sweetness of Sugarfoot, the Chums' heroics of Colt .45's Wayde Preston and several others who herd the doggies on the TV trail.

Perhaps that's why I enjoy Gunsmoke best of all and Have Gun Will Travel a mere smidgin behind. Both James Arness and Richard Boone look like grow'd up males who would bypass a bath at the drop of a six-gun in favor of a couple of shots at the bar with the local dance hall queen.

I am convinced that this appeal of masculinity is what lends such cinema heroes as John Wayne, Kirk Douglas, Henry Fonda, Anthony Quinn, Burt Lancaster, William Holden, Garry Cooper, Clark Gable and so on their amazing ageless quality. There's something invincible about each of them.

Even girls of half their age and less seem to find them irresistable, evidently prefering to smooch with them behind the stable than execute the cake-walk and bunny-hug with a contemporary. The girls just don't seem to give a whoop or a holler that they don't bathe and shave or use "a man's shampoo." Of course, on the other hand, maybe the girls of the golden west hadn't read the ads either.

IT'S TOO EARLY to be sure yet. But my guess is that the new Fibber McGee and Molly series may gather on TV the loyal gathering they did on radio. It will take two or three more episodes to be sure.

And, finally, a bow to Playhouse UK's adaptation of Henrik Ibsen's "The Wild Duck," Sunday night. Each in the cast was good but Dorothy Tutin as the daughter was simply magnificent. She is the type that haunts long after the play itself has faded from the mind.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1959

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Fine time for self-analysis, and also for studying others so that you may know how to proceed more intelligently in career and personal affairs. P.M. have fun at special amusements you enjoy. Be enthusiastic and cheerful.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Consider well what it is you want most out of life and then go about quietly and intelligently taking the steps that will permit you to get it. Action now. P.M. make it a definite point to assist those in need. Be generous.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Consult those successful and kind friends who can give you the benefit of their experience so that you can make greater strides in own profession. Get to the point, so no time is wasted. P.M. fine for sociability.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Think big today and you can start getting big. Your love for gracious living is great, and you are entitled to it. However, it behooves you to speed up a good deal; you procrastinate too much. Get credit up higher quickly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Get right up from that easy chair now and be off to see the persons you can help you with your inspired ideas. Work your plans out constructively with key people and be sure not to talk too much, or be too forceful.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—It is important to you to feel secure and to live an orderly life. So this is the right day to look into accounts, property, etc., and you can achieve much in those directions. P.M. enjoy yourself as you most please.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—You at last comprehend what associate, or one closest to you, expects in the future. Make new agreements that satisfy both. P.M. have a delightful time wtih loved one dancing, at sports, etc.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Vigorously applying yourself right now to all career and property matters finds you far ahead of the game, more so than has been possible for some time in the past. Be sure to support a fellow worker who has been very loyal.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—If attuned astrologically to individual sign, this will be a very productive day in all spheres of your life, since your application will be great. Tonight is then fine for having a wonderful time as most suits you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Affairs at home can be adjusted now to suit your plans and desires. Then be out in the world of activity and begin an uptrend. Return home early for an evening of relaxation and charming home fun. Be happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—You are in a fine, joyful mood today and this can be infectious with all those about you. It will also aid you to get your ideas across in artistic or other career fields. P.M. get together with friends for lots of fun. Act.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Ideal day to handle finances more efficiently and invest very wisely. This will increase income very soon. Impress others with your loyalty by helping them in some tangible way. P.M. look after larynx.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

The delightful child born Friday is the type who will be a little ball of fire, flitting hither and yon. The creative imagination is very marked, also ability to work is here, but there is a tendency to leave things half done. Teach thoroughness early. Let your progeny have the most thorough training; college is a must. Fine chart for New Age enterprises.

LOCATION BLEST

Truly one of the finer homes this beautiful city has to offer. Located on choice high ground in Oak Bay and facing southeast, every room in this 7-year-old house is blessed with magnificent and unobstructed views. The interior floor plan is excellent and rooms are as follows: Large living and dining rooms with expensive wall-to-wall carpeting, mahogany panelling, FP fireplace, coved ceilings, etc. Off the living room is a beautiful enclosed porch patio with sliding glass doors that lead down cement steps to secluded garden. The kitchen is a sleep saver with space for all utilities and is complete with garbarator, and attractive breakfast area. The hallway is nicely carpeted and leads to large bedroom with twin cupboards and W-to-W carpet. The bathroom is spacious, has colored fixtures and built-in vanity. The den is panelled, carpeted and has attractive fireplace. The basement is full size with asphalt-tile floors and lined walls. The heating plant is General Electric oil furnace. The whole house is completely insulated. There is a double garage on the property and the garden is a sight to behold—the private formal section being fenced and having an attractive patio area. PLEASURE AFLOAT

Fishing Biggest Hazard on Water

If you are going fishing this weekend, then be careful, for you will be engaging in an activity that produces more than half of the fatal accidents to the occupants of pleasure craft. You would be much safer, according to statistics, to indulge in some high speed water skiing or racing.

These astounding facts, which are contrary to the common conception of what causes boating accidents, are revealed in a study of press reports of 937 accidental deaths of occupants of pleasure craft in the United States during 1957. The study was conducted by the Outboard Boating Club of America. According to figures released by the U.S. government's Vital Statistics Office, there were 1,237 fatalities due to "submersion of occupant of small boat" in the United States in 1956. Latest official Canadian government figures are 245 for the year 1955.

Racing Much Safer

The study shows that 56.6 per cent of the deaths investigated happened while the occupants were engaged in the quiet pusuit of fishing. In contrast, fatalities while water skiing accounted for only 3.2 per cent of the total, and racing but 1.3 per cent.

That fishing accounted for a large proportion of the accidents studied may be surprising, but it correlates with the findings as to the cause of the mishaps. Predominant among the causes is falling overboard, standing in a boat, and overloading, all brought about by actions that the fisherman finds convenient, if not necessary, to the best pursuit of his postime. Keeping your seat when fishing from a small boat would seem to be tantamount to staying alive. Or else wearing a lifejacket at all times!

Chief Causes

Operator negligence is the number one cause of boating accidents in the U.S., according to the OBC report. Under this category the study places 31.7 per cent of the cases. It could have as readily placed another 24.33 per cent in a category labelled "operator misjudgment." These causes were collision with another boat, rocks, reef, or submerged object (8.82 per cent), and swamping by wave, wake, own wash while in reverse, windstorm, or rain squall (15.15 per cent).

While the study shows that the second largest cause of fatal accident involving small boats was by boats found "capsized or overturned"—28.84 per cent what contributed to the capsizing or overturning was too vague or generalized in press reports to make a proper classification under a more pertinent heading. Careless operation could probably be blamed for most of the accidents in this classification.

Youth No Big Factor

Kids in their high-speed outfits are shown by the OBC report to be only incidental factors to boating accidents, as much as they may cause individual concern when they are operating.

The largest number of victims is shown to be in the age group of 20 to 44 years—the particularly active years for sport participation, especially fishing. It is significant that less than 8 per cent of the actual operators of boats involved in fatal accidents were under 20 years of age, and that almost three-quarters of these over 14. Legislation setting a minimum age for boat operators would hardly seem necessary on the basis of these OBC figures.

It is worth pondering, however, that 19.77 per cent of the non-operators drowned were below 20 years of age, and half of these were 14 years or younger. Is this an indication of parental carelessness in the issuing of lifejackets to be worn by the youngsters?

What type of boats were involved in fatal accidents? As to be expected, because of the much greater number in use, boats powered by outboard motors were cited in 57.9 per cent of the cases. Unpowered rowboats and skiffs were involved in 25.8 per cent of the fatal accidents — which seems an unusually high figure, but it is due, no doubt, to their being types greatly favored by some fishermen. Inboards were figured at 9.1 per cent, canoes at 4.8 per cent and sailboats at 2.4 per cent.

Shooting Ban Bylaw Meeting Opposition

(From Duncan Bureau)

CHEMAINUS — Opposition to a municipality of North Cowichan bylaw to regulate the discharging of firearms in the municipality is growing.

The Rod and Gun Club has already served notice that it will oppose the bylaw and seeks the support of affiliated game clubs.

Chemainus-Crofton Chamber of Commerce this week also voted unanimously to oppose the bylaw, which was given first reading by council at its last meeting.

The bylaw will prevent hunters from discharging firearms in defined areas of the municipality, including certain parks and fire protection areas, unless they first obtain a special municipal permit, at a fee to be stipulated. The bylaw also provides for a fine of up to $100 for hunters ignoring bylaw restrictions.

Bob Bennie told the chamber that organized sportsmen were vigorously opposed to the proposed bylaw.

THE OTHER VIEW

"The hunters, that's where it hurts most. I pay a $11.50 licence now. I buy shells and other equipment here in the municipality.

"You know what's behind this. Six people who ride horses on Maple Mountain want to keep about 500 hunters out of there. It should be the other way around. Just remember, this is just the thin edge of the wedge and unless we oppose it now, pretty soon we'll all have to go up to Nanaimo to hunt."

Reg Harwood said he was not a farmer or a hunter, but he knew that over on the mainland "an awful lot of farmers have had their cattle shot by hunters. Perhaps if some hunters had been a little better behaved, we wouldn't be faced with this piece of legislation."

"We're paying enough taxes now, a lot more than some of those farmers. Why should we pay more?" commented Hans Ballie.

SIU Wins Round In Union Battle

(From CP Dispatches)

The Clifford J. Rogers is due in Vancouver from the north shortly and the SIU claims that the judge's decision paves the way for the discharge of the four crewmen.

'FRIENDS' ADMIT SHOOTING

Playboy Slain in Canyon

DENVER (AP)—A bachelor playboy, heir to a fortune, was shot to death and buried under rocks in a lonely canyon.

The body of William Scott Wright, 37, trussed in oilskin, was found Wednesday night. Police today said a couple whom Wright had befriended admitted the slaying.

Harold Wooley, 36, an ex-convict, said he shot Wright in the head at Wright's mountain cabin.

Then, Wooley told officers, he and his common-law wife, Mary, 32, rolled several boulders on top of the body and covered it with broken bushes.

This happened June 15, Wooley said, 10 days after Wright was last reported seen in Denver.

His disappearance came to light early last week when Wooley and his wife were arrested and charged with forging a $550 cheque made out to Wright.

1-RUBLE MOON STAMP ISSUED BY RUSSIANS

MOSCOW (AP) — Mail passing through Moscow's central post office today was cancelled with a special postmark commemorating the landing of the Soviet rocket on the moon.

Tass news agency said a new one-ruble postage stamp also was issued in two colors, depicting the rocket's launching against the background of an observatory.

STRACHAN GETS SHRUM REPORT

To Bob 'With Regards'

The kindness was a tongue in-cheek answer to his arch foe after Mr. Strachan complained the Premier had given copies of the report of the Shrum Royal Commission on power matters to the press. But there was no copy for the Opposition Leader.

The entire 200-page report was re-printed at the Premier's request, in the government monthly newspaper. Despite the use of smaller type, the four-page bulletin had to be expanded to 24 pages. Total of 65,000 copies are being printed.

Since Newfoundland became a province in 1949, landings of fish in Canada have fluctuated around 2,000,000,000 pounds annually.

'HELP I'M SMOTHERED,' NINA CRIES IN CROWD

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Nina Khrushchev stepped out without her husband for the first time today and ran into a stampede of newswomen and New York's first ladies. She had to call for help.

"Oh, help me out of here," Mrs. Khrushchev called to Mrs. Robert F. Wagner, wife of the mayor and her hostess. "I'm smothering."

THE CLOSING COLLEGE DOOR

Breathless event for hundreds of Victoria and Vancouver Island youths attending their first official opening of the Victoria College fall term had a double meaning today as more than 900 swamped the 300-seat auditorium. Scores strained to hear the speeches — and to breathe —, in the crush of bodies that jammed the hallway outside of the auditorium doors. Inside, they were packed like sardines.

It Took Courage, Wisdom

NEW YORK (AP) —Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev hailed President Eisenhower today as a "great man" who had the courage and wisdom to invite the leader of world communism to the United States.

"I am aware some politicians in this country are displeased by this step taken by the president of this country, but it needed a great man to look farther ahead instead of those who are unable to see any further than their noses," the Soviet leader said.

Quiet Welcome

"It is a man's greatness to be able to see today and to be also able to see future prospects and that the prospects should be clear for his nation."

Khrushchev made the remarks in Russian at a luncheon in his honor at the Commodore Hotel, given by Mayor Robert Wagner on behalf of the city of New York. The city welcomed the Soviet leader quietly on the second leg of his tour.

Mostly it was a polite silence, punctuated by a few cheers and by some shouts of "murderer" and placards reading:

"I have always esteemed your president and I do so to an even greater degree now. To have invited Khrushchev to the United States needed wisdom and will power and understanding of the need to place the relations between our countries on a sounder basis."

Loud Laugh

Khrushchev drew a loud laugh from the audience at the luncheon when he said of course there were other reasons why he was invited.

"You wanted to see what kind of a man Khrushchev was," he said. "Well, here I am."

Laughingly, Khrushchev referred to the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Henry Cabot Lodge, for the "burden" he will have in accompanying Khrushchev on his tour as official escort.

Lodge, in a previous address, had delivered a lecture to Khrushchev about the United States, winding it up in this way:

"I hope you'll forgive me, but you, sir, have awakened us and made us more conscious of the great ideals on which our country rests and we sincerely appreciate that."

Khrushchev displayed an attitude, in marked contrast to that of the speakers who preceded him.

Deadly Serious

Ambassador Lodge, outspoken antagonist of Soviet policies in the United Nations, was deadly serious as he lectured the visiting premier on the United States and its ways, on the situation of American Negroes and on the determination of Americans to end legal segregation.

Boost College Students Told

By JOHN MIKA

Victoria College's record number of students today were urged to "go out and boost for your college" to help in putting spring campaign for $1,500,000 over the top.

Judge J. B. Clearihue, chairman of the college council, told an overflow crowd of students which swamped the auditorium that they could help the building funds drive.

"There's 1,000 of you here and if you speak to your parents and friends . . . go out and boost for your college . . . it will help greatly. If each one of you speaks to 20 people, that would give 20,000 friends of the college and that would put us over next spring in the drive."

The fund, to be matched dollar for dollar by the provincial government, will be used to build science, library, faculty and power plant buildings on the present campus.

OPPOSES MOVING

Judge Clearihue indicated in his speech that he holds firmly to the plan for developing the existing campus rather than starting "from scratch" in re-establishing the college on the recently-acquired Gordon Head property.

He said the Gordon Head property will not be left idle. A new playing field for the students and a large gymnasium will be used this fall and —"this is just a personal hope"—some of the army huts may be converted to dormitories next spring.

"We have a lot of good buildings out there. It's true they are made of wood but they are sound.

"Unfortunately, there has been a certain amount of unwarranted criticism of Victoria College but in spite of that we are building a university here in Victoria," he said.

"We will build it slowly but very soundly."

He said the affiliation with the University of B.C. would be retained, and told the students that whether they graduate from Vancouver or Victoria, their degrees would be the same.

FIRST POWERED FLIGHT FOR U.S. ROCKET SHIP

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The rocket ship X-15 which later this year may carry a man to the edge of space, made its first powered flight today.

With veteran North American Aviation test pilot Scott Crossfield at the controls, it was cut loose from its B-52 mother ship 38,000 feet over this desert test centre.

Crossfield zoomed to 50,000 feet and made some manoeuvres while flying a 100-mile circle.

Bank Rate Up Slightly As Bills Sold

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada interest rate edged upwards today to 6.13 per cent from 6.05 last week with the sale of $100,000,000 in 91-day government treasury bills.

It was the third weekly increase in a row. The rise of .08 per cent was half of the .16-per-cent increase last week.

The bank rate — minimum charge made on the infrequent central bank loans to chartered banks—is set at one-quarter of 1 per cent above the average yield on the weekly issue of 91-day treasury bills sold by tender.

Today $100,000,000 of the bills were sold with an average yield of 5.88 per cent compared with 5.80 last week.

The Bank of Canada rate of 6.13 per cent set today compares with the record high of 6.41 per cent on Aug. 13. The record low was 1.12 on Aug. 2, 1958.

Back CLC Affiliation

TORONTO (CP) — The annual convention of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) today upheld a membership referendum asking for affiliation with the Canadian Labor Congress.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

We thank Thee, O Lord, for summer days and for the glory of the world Thou hast made. Help us to stand in awe of its mystery, to drink deep of its joy, to enter into its golden opportunities, and to share its sorrow and defeat. Since we know not what a day may bring forth, lead us safely through each fleeting hour and also lift us above this space-time enclosure so that we may glorify and enjoy Thee forever; through Christ. Amen.

Satellite Shot Fails to Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The United States failed today in an effort to put a 265-pound global navigation satellite into orbit around the earth.

A Thor-Able rocket carried the satellite aloft at 10.34 a.m. EDT, but the defence department announced an hour later that the rocket's third stage apparently failed to fire, and "it must be assumed that the satellite did not orbit."

The aim was to put the sphere into a difficult circular orbit 400 miles above the earth. If successful the satellite would be visible from all over the United States. Its life expectancy was "several years."

The Thor-Able firing followed a perfect launching of an operational Atlas missile Wednesday night. The Atlas flew almost its maximum range, travelling almost 6,300 statute miles. It landed in the Ascension Island area of the South Atlantic.

HID BEHIND TREE

Algeria Chief Escapes Ambush

The tommy-gun attack from ambush came while he was walking near his home.

FEDERAL SERVANTS GET ACTION

Fleming Sets Talks On Salary Increases

OTTAWA (UPI) — Finance Minister Donald Fleming has agreed to discuss salary increases with representatives of Canada's 150,000 civil servants Oct. 13 or 14, it was disclosed today.

The joint action committee of the public service organizations said Fleming agreed to the date in a telephone conversation with Fred W. Whitehouse, president of the Civil Service Federation of Canada.

The joint action committee said Fleming emphasized the federal government has no desire to prolong the salary situation, but that this has been necessary due to the complicated nature of the problem.

POLICE SWARM HOTEL AFTER BOMB THREATS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bomb threats against the hotel where New York City throws its lunch party for Nikita Khrushchev today put security-jittery police on the run hours before the Russian premier's arrival here.

Hundreds of police fanned through the Commodore Hotel—previously searched from cellar to roof—after two telephoned threats were received, but found no bombs.

PLEA FOR NEGOTIATIONS

Herter Gives UN U.S. Peace Program

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — State Secretary Christian Herter today laid down a broad program aimed at ending East-West tension through peaceful change in the political, military and economic fields.

Herter addressed the 82-country General Assembly in a major policy speech obviously aimed at Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who is to speak from the same rostrum Friday afternoon.

While denouncing the use of force by the Communists in Asia and other places, such as Hungary, Herter appealed for serious negotiation on disarmament, outer space co-operation and such outstanding political problems as Berlin and the reunification of Germany.

He blamed the non-co-operation of the Soviet Union for the arms race of the last 10 years, but declared that the United States regards the forthcoming disarmament talks next year as "a major opportunity."

"Successful negotiations could not only open new avenues of progress toward limitation and control of arma-

WASHINGTON (CP) —President Eisenhower suggested today the American people would not be fooled even by such a "master debater" as Premier Khrushchev into believing that communism is the better system.

He told a press conference questioner that the U.S. people are strong enough in their convictions to listen to any man present his views and to make their own decisions on the man's argument.

He said he is convinced that Khrushchev is sincere in expressing repugnance of the horrors of war but, even so, there is still room in the world for a lot of misunderstanding and miscalculation that could be very serious.

The American leader said his talks with Khrushchev have been extremely friendly, but that it is too early to tell whether the Soviet premier has changed his mind on any world issues.

REALLY TRYING

He said Khrushchev's manner and deportment indicate he really is trying to reach agreement regarding international problems.

As for the public reception Khrushchev received in Washington, Eisenhower remarked that the crowds did show what he termed reservation. He indicated he feels that was to be expected in view of the differences between the United States and Russia on specific problems and general government philosophy.

STORK SPOILS SCORPIO'S CUPID

Stars Cross Up Margaret

LONDON (AP) — The man who predicted that Princess Margaret would get married today said the pregnacy of the Queen probably upset the wedding.

"The wedding was in the stars," said Dr. William Tucker, president of the Federation of British Astrologers, "and the stars never go wrong."

Pausing for breath during an interview he added: "You will remember that nine months ago I said the Queen would have an emotional upset in May. Well, she did, and this probably interfered with the wedding bells."

Last January Dr. Tucker said in a filmed interview: "The Queen's horoscope shows she will have an emotional disturbance in May connected with a personal and family matter.

"I deduce from this she will make a decision concerning the marriage of her sister, Princess Margaret."

Dr. Tucker was even more specific this afternoon.

"The man she was to have married was a scorpio-born between Oct. 23 and Nov. 21. That man was Prince Henry of Hesse."

Prince Henry's full name is Heinrich Wilhelm Konstantin Victor Franz Hesse and he lives in Rome. Known as one of Europe's most eligible bachelors, he met the pretty princess in Rome last April—four months after Dr. Tucker predicted her romance with a scorpio.

"Prince Henry is a scorpio," he said, "and as far as the stars are concerned he's still the man."

For the Queen Dr. Tucker has a new prediction: "Her Majesty will have her baby at 10.30 in the morning on Jan. 17, 1960."

'THE HORSE AND THE LADY'—A TURF CLASSIC

By HAL MALONE

Twilight Years Kind to Venerable Pair

A fallacy of horse racing fondly held by many people who know nothing about it is that horsemen are a bunch of scoundrels who mistreat their charges, cheat the public and shun their communal responsibilities.

In a few cases this is true. In the case of Mrs. Jessie MacKenzie and the B.C. branch of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, it is as wrong as Jimmy Hoffa.

Malone

Mrs. MacKenzie is a little pearl of a horsewoman who knows and has forgotten more about racehorses than many of her colleagues will ever know. There is nothing special about her.

Nothing, that is, unless you consider she is 86 years young, trained racehorses in Canada, the U.S. and Mexico for 60 years and was the first woman in North America to receive a trainer's licence.

'Age Cannot Wither'

The years have not dimmed this lady, no taller than an overgrown jockey and just as pencil slim. Her smokey-grey eyes twinkle behind spectacles acquired "for reading only" six months ago and she'll talk your arm off—not in the jargon of racing people but with perfect English. She is slightly deaf and high blood pressure has caused her to ease her once torrid pace.

While the years have been relatively kind to her, some of the horses she has owned haven't always been as kind. More than a few of them have been beset with "the slows"—a malady nothing short of a dependable battery can overcome.

Wealthy horsemen frequently deal off animals which drain the bank account on the grounds that nothing succeeds like success and sentiment can only lead to the poor house. Other horsemen, like Mrs. MacKenzie, often keeps them against their better judgment and for fear that somebody else will mistreat the animal and fail to give it a good home when it reaches the pension stage.

Brighouse Home

The fact Mrs. MacKenzie is of the latter school accounts for the rapid decline in her economy. Several years ago when her situation came to the notice of the horsemen's group they quietly, and without being asked, set her up in a little cottage behind Brighouse racetrack. It wasn't much and they made repeated and unsuccessful efforts to have her move into better quarters.

When Brighouse was demolished in June, Mrs. MacKenzie was told she, too, would have to go. Again the horsemen's association stepped in. They told her they would pay to ship her and her horses to Sandown but when the Vancouver Island meeting opened (as it does Saturday) she would have to move to a place in the country they promised to find.

Some searching produced a neat white cottage at the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lownds, 482 Sparton Road, off Old West Saanich Road. At first reluctant to leave the track she had known all her life, she acquiesed when she learned that the Lownds had a barn for her four horses.

Quietly, the HBPA paid the rent, bought her an oil stove and assured the Lownds they would supplement Mrs. Mac's old-age pension to the extent she would not go without the necessities of life.

These considerate acts by the horsemen explain the "benevolent" in the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association. They put the lie, more adequately than anything else they could do, to critics of racing who claim it is populated by cold, heartless, chiseling people who place the dollar above people—their own people.

Their kindness has enabled Mrs. Mac to continue her life with horses, particularly one horse. She spoke of him Wednesday. She calls him "the little horse" and "Jimmy" but his real name is Jim Rogan.

Became a Busher

"He's the littlest horse with the biggest heart I've ever known," she said. "Was 106 times in the money. Won 25 races, was second 48 times, had 33 thirds. They wouldn't let him race at legitimate tracks when he was 12 but he kept on running and winning at the bush tracks.

"Won his last race when he was 17, he did. Mister, that's a real honest horse you're looking at."

Race patrons in Jim Rogan's day loved the little fellow not only for his performance but also for his exhibitionism.

Best B.C.-Bred

She talked of many other things. Like His Brother was "the best" horse I ever had, the best horse ever bred in B.C."

What about Don Carley's $25,000 beauty, Major Turley, or Bill Lochhead's mighty Lord Renraw?

"No, sir," she said positively. "The mark of a great horse is his ability as a three-year-old to beat older, stake horses. His Brother did it five times in a row. If a horse can't do that he's just a good horse. But not a great one."

"Not too many good ones around today. Many of them are grooms, stable boys one day, trainers the next. They don't know what it's all about."

How long does it take to be a good trainer?

"Depends on the individual's intellect, his ability to absorb information and his interest. Half of today's trainers don't know how to handle babies (two-year-olds). A baby is just that; you can't expect him to do a man's work. But they do. And when the horse is three he hasn't got it any more.

"Why I never had a two-year-old I couldn't win with."

If Mrs. Mac thinks horsemen generally are the finest people in the world she can be excused.

Breeding Tells

Proudly she showed off her doughty little horse, heard Jack Short recall some of Jimmy's finest races and accepted with tears in her eyes a purse. It contained $1,500.

"A wonderful day it was," she said. "It sort of proved to me that in horsemen, like good horses, breeding tells.

JOCKEY TAKES TO TAXI BUT STILL LOSES RACE

AYR, Scotland (UPI) — Jockey Tony Wilson took extraordinary measures to win a race here Wednesday, but he still came in last.

ENROLMENTS RISE SHARPLY IN HIGHER GRADES

By JOHN MIKA

A new building program of at least two junior-senior high schools is indicated by a record-breaking enrolment of 21,269 pupils in the Greater Victoria school system.

This year's total enrolment is 1,030 larger than last year. Significantly, 805 of the additional pupils are in the 11 high schools while the other 225 are distributed among 35 elementary schools.

Enrolments have jumped all along the line, rising more steeply in the higher grades. The 2,095 enrolled in Grade 1 represents an increase of 8 per cent; at the other end of the scale, the 871 Grade 12 students represent an increase of 14 per cent.

So far there are classes for everyone except for the temporary shift system at Esquimalt High School. This will be eliminated when the new Esquimalt Senior High School is opened, probably in January.

The 436-pupil increase at the junior high school level has put a tight squeeze on S. J. Willis and Lansdowne units. Result is accommodation of three Grade 7 classes in Oaklands Elementary School and another in Doncaster Elementary.

The situation will be cleared up with construction of four more classrooms at S. J. Willis and opening of a new Gordon Head Junior High School, probably next fall, will siphon off some 300 students.

Meanwhile, addition of another floor to Mount Douglas High School will head off increasing pressure there.

Classroom increases at Glanford Elementary and Oak Bay High School will ease the situation in those areas.

And that will complete the $4,470,000 building program approved by ratepayers. Result — classroom expansion just barely keeping pace with school population increases to the end of 1960.

Unless more classrooms are planned, the expanding school population will burst its seams, especially in the upper grades, within a year after the current building program winds up.

The impending bottleneck in the high school level is caused by the wave of post-war "bumper baby crops" —which forced a dramatic expansion of elementary schools—now flooding the junior and senior high school grades.

A projection of school population increases made in 1955 predicted today's trend but fell short in actual estimates.

This year's enrolments in the three levels, with the estimate made five years ago in brackets, are: elementary, 12,552 (12,268); junior high, 5,275 (4,949); and senior high, 3,442 (3,273).

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1959 21

WEST GERMAN DEFENCE HEAD COMING HERE

West German Defence Minister Strauss will visit Victoria for a brief inspection of military installations towards the end of the month.

He will spend 10 days in Canada, arriving Sept. 22, accompanied by air force chief Gen. Joseph Kammhuber.

Defence Minister George Pearkes said the visit was to acquaint Mr. Strauss "with the general Canadian scene and particularly with defence matters of mutual interest."

Senior Housing $28 Grant Asked

vincial government should pay the $28 homeowner's grant on each dwelling unit in Victoria's low-rent housing developments for senior citizens.

Mr. Black, addressing the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in Kelowna Wednesday, said he will try to obtain legislation compelling municipalities to exempt such developments from municipal taxes.

That would mean a loss of about $15,000 in Victoria taxes each year, guessed Ald. Dowell here.

"Since many of the persons in these developments come from outside areas, that would mean that Victoria taxpayers would be subsidizing the elderly persons in the whole Greater Victoria area which is unfair," he said.

WHY NOT?

"If the provincial government is so anxious to help these developments—and they are very worthy—why doesn't it extend to them the same assistance it gives other homeowners through the $28 grant?

"Giving a grant for each dwelling unit would help the associations greatly without putting an unfair burden on the municipalities."

As I was starting to walk across Douglas Street, a small boy belonging to the North Ward School safety patrol raised his flag to stop me.

"No, No!" shouted his opposite number across the street, "not him, silly. We don't look after them!"

At last Sunday's concert outside the Legislative Buildings, many of us noticed that whereas maestro Hans Gruber conducted the massive Brahms C Minor symphony from memory, he required a musical score for the light music from "Oklahoma!"

"Brahms wrote this work more than 100 years ago; so I have had lots of time to study it. 'Oklahoma' is only about 10 years old."

You can have lots of fun in Germany with old language books, says Peter M. Miles from Vancouver.

Hitch-hiking in the Ruhr Valley, Peter called on a German couple living in two small rooms. From a 50-year-old book of handy German phrases for the traveller, he read out this sentence:

"I have decided to stay the night. Will you please arrange accommodation for my horses and servants."

The Germans thought this very funny.

"Old trumpeters never die," says George Jacques of 891 Lavender, who will be 87 on Jan. 13.

An ex-army trumpeter, Mr. Jacques is already getting ready for the annual Armistice Day service at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, Saanich.

Every Nov. 11, come rain or shine, he plays The Last Post outside the church.

"It's getting to be a habit," he said.

Thirty-four blind persons took part in the annual fishing derby organized by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind at Canoe Cove, Sidney, Wednesday afternoon.

First prize and the CNIB fishing trophy were won by James Raines who caught a 4½-pound salmon. William Mackenzie won second prize with a 3½-pound salmon, and a third prize went to R. Snider.

Community, Political Figures Die

Eugene J. Diespecker, 60, well-known figure in the military, business, and political life of this area, died suddenly today at his home, 1170 Camrose Crescent.

He had been in good health until last spring, when he was ill for a while. He returned to work, however, and was on vacation at the time of his death.

He was best known here as a member of the firm of Jameson Motors Ltd., where he started work 36 years ago. He became service manager at the firm 25 years ago.

TWICE ELECTED

Mr. Diespecker was elected twice to Saanich council, then resigned in November, 1957, in the middle of his second term, to contest the Saanich reeveship held by Arthur Ash. Against amalgamation at the time, he was defeated by a narrow margin.

Although he never ran for council again, he served on the Saanich court of revision and won acclaim for his work.

Born in South Africa, he arrived in Victoria in 1908 with his family, and joined the old 5th Regiment as a trumpeter. He went on active service in August, 1914, and went overseas with the 48th Battalion as a bugler, serving at Ypres, the Somme, Vimy Ridge, Passchendale and Hill 70. He later transferred to the RAF, returning to Victoria after the peace.

HELPED BOY SCOUTS

In the Second World War he was field security officer on the headquarters staff of the 8th Canadian Division.

He gave considerable time to the PTA movement and to the Boy Scouts.

Surviving are the widow, Margaret, at home; a son, Eugene, studying for the ministry at UBC; and a daughter, Jill, in training at Vancouver General Hospital. All were together only last week at the Diespecker summer home on Cowichan River.

Also surviving are three brothers, Louis C., in the Orient; Durbyn, in South Africa; and Dick, the youngest, well-known writer and radio figure, now in California. The oldest brother, R. E. A. Diespecker, died in 1948. The four older brothers served in the First World War, and all five served in the Second World War.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Haywards.

8 Liberals May Seek Victoria Nominations

PARTY CHIEF MAY CONTEST SEAT IN CITY

He is reported considering the possibility of entering the legislature via the area which elected two of the three Liberals now in the legislature.

A highly-placed Victoria Liberal said today the leader had not yet made up his mind.

Mr. Perrault is a member of the Vancouver Kingsway Liberal group, lives in Vancouver East electoral district, but is in the process of moving.

'CARPETBAGGER'

Greater Victoria is home to Victoria MLA George Gregory (House leader) and Oak Bay MLA P. A. Gibbs. The third elected member is J. Melvin Bryan, who was elected as a Social Credit member for North Vancouver. He became an independent in 1957 over dispute with the government in handling of the Sommers case. Last session he joined the Liberal party.

Some local Liberals feel that although party support is stronger in this area than in many sections of B.C., Mr. Perrault may be considered an outsider, or in the words of one official, "a carpetbagger."

On the other hand, the prospect of having the party leader as a representative of this area, is considered an enticement in some quarters.

4 Months' Jail For TV Theft, False Pretences

Gordon Bulmer, 935 North Park, in city court today was sentenced to four months in Oakalla for theft and four months for false pretences, sentences to run concurrently.

He had stolen a TV set from a household and sold it at an auction room for $40. Bulmer was also guilty of passing a $25 phony cheque at a supermarket.

Magistrate William Ostler said the accused's trouble obviously stemmed from "excessive" use of alcohol.

Activity Reflects Looming Election

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

The Victoria Liberal Association, in the face of a probable election next spring, is combing its ranks for candidates to stand with city MLA and Liberal house leader George Gregory.

Names of five nominees, perhaps eight, will be placed before a meeting of the association executive Monday.

They are Mr. Gregory; Dr. A. E. Trotter, Victoria surgeon; former MLA Capt. D. J. Proudfoot; former candidate and present city alderman Geoffrey Edgelow, and city lawyer and former British Columbia Power Commission member, Forrest L. Shaw. Several others listed by the nominating committee have yet to be approached.

A contest within the party seems assured. The executive will announce the date of a nominating convention.

The extent of the pre-election excitement was obvious as well over 200 party adherents gathered at a "reception" for the national Liberal leader, Lester B. Pearson, at Holyrood House, Wednesday night.

Although billed as a reception, the gathering took on all the earmarks of an election meeting, from the hearty standing ovation for the national leader to the spirited talk by provincial leader Ray Perrault.

Long after Mr. Pearson and Mr. Perrault had completed their talks, the audience remained in the hall, assessing their future chances over coffee and doughnuts—and quietly signing inter-party nomination papers

Mass Demonstration to Spark Fervor

Election speculation was given added flavor by the platform announcement of provincial party leader Perrault that there will be "a mass Liberal demonstration" in Vancouver October 13 at Queen Elizabeth auditorium.

He called on Island members of the party to attend, promising, "We are going to have a few surprises." He said the meeting is aimed at telling the people of B.C. "what kind of Liberal administration they will have."

It was the second occasion this week that opposition parties showed disbelief for Premier Bennett's statement that an election in B.C. could still be delayed as late as the spring of 1961.

It was learned earlier that Victoria Conservatives will hold an executive meeting before the end of this month to consider their list of probable candidates. At least three names are now said to be in the hat, foremost among them, the name of one-time Coalition finance minister Herbert Anscomb.

Oak Bay Tories had earlier settled on their choice to challenge incumbent member P. A. Gibbs. They named James A. A. George last spring, in expectation of an election this fall. Deane Finlayson, provincial leader, says 20 provincial candidates will be fielded before the party's annual meeting at Harrison Hot Springs, Oct. 24 and 25.

Members of both parties are now pinning hopes on a spring election in 1960. They say Premier Bennett claims to be free of direct debt and accordingly will have, he says, $25,000,000 to spend next year to improve public welfare. They feel his budget in the next session will be packed with items aimed at collecting votes—items such as additional aid to the elderly and an increase in the home owners' grant.

Policy Speech By Bennett Watched

The same feeling of impending contest was evident to a degree at a meeting Monday of Victoria Social Crediters. Some saw hints of a spring election in a speech given then by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

All parties will be watching for further signs at the annual Social Credit convention at Vancouver Oct. 30 and 31. Premier Bennett is bound to make at least one policy speech concerning future intentions of his government.

One of B.C.'s biggest projects stands in the offing—development of the Peace River Power Development Company scheme to harness the Peace. With this is linked the other Wenner-Gren project, the construction of a railway now expected to lead north from Prince George to the Yukon and eventually to connect with Alaska.

If Peace River Power files its plans in form of a certificate of feasibility for the scheme, with the water rights branch before the end of December, it may take three months to a year before the investigations of the branch are complete and the company gets an official go-ahead.

Then, say observers, it is logical the company would want assurance a friendly government, one not opposed to private power development, as are the Liberals and CCF, will be in power for the next four years.

Then, they say, Premier Bennett will call an election. And neither the Liberals nor Conservatives intend to be caught with their candidates down.

TAKING COMMAND of the Esquimalt-based minesweeper HMCS Miramichi on Oct. 9 will me Lt.-Cmdr. Robert Knox Niven, 34, formerly of Toronto and now of Ottawa. Miramichi is attached to the Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron.

USN Warship No Beauty, But Useful

A warship which is strictly business and anything but a beauty docked at HMCS Naden this morning for a four-day visit.

Her role is to act as parent ship and repair ship for landing craft and coastal craft. Gunston Hall is 457 feet long, 72 feet wide, and designed especially for the purposes of her job.

The well deck runs three quarters the length of the ship. The stern is absolutely square, and opens up like the gates of a drydock to take in landing craft for maintenance and repair.

Gunston Hall can carry 18 landing craft medium in the well deck. In addition, a smaller landing craft vehicle personnel can be nested in each LCM, so the parent ship can carry a total of 36 "children" at a time.

She was built in 1943 and saw service in the Pacific. In 1949, she was adapted for service in the Arctic.

Diplomacy, Modesty and Humor Parts of Nina Khrushchev's Manner

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soft-spoken Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev already has given Americans several glimpses into her little-known personality.

Nina Petrovna, out in the big world for the first time, has turned out to be neither as shy as Americans expected nor as venturesome as the state department anticipated.

In three days of being welcomed, feted, and whisked around town, she has shown moments of humor, diplomatic tact, common sense and motherliness.

Mrs. Khrushchev surprised reporters by submitting with ease to an inundation of questions ranging from her personal life to her impressions of Washington and Mamie Eisenhower.

It was her first direct contact with the relentless American press. Yet, she made no effort to shrug off her questioners and seemed to enjoy the informality of it all, for a while at least.

She proved herself to be more flexible and accommodating to the demands made on her than her two stepdaughters, Rada and Yulia. They would not answer questions and occasionally felt they had to rescue their mother.

When her husband was asked on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial to compare Moscow with Washington, Mrs. Khrushchev commented that a comparison really was out of order. "Moscow is Moscow and Washington is Washington," she said, "and they both have their beauty."

Her sense of humor was sparked by a suggestion from one American that she, Nina Petrovna, was the effective boss of the Khrushchev family.

She quipped, "Only the American reporters think so." It sounded like a remark that Nikita himself might have made.

Her modesty is becoming, but it has not satisfied the American curiosity as to just how much influence the gentle woman exerts on her husband.

When she and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, wife of the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, entered the auditorium at Beltsville, Md., for a lecture on plant research, they found only one seat had been reserved. Mrs. Khrushchev refused to sit down until a seat had been obtained for Mrs. Lodge.

Mrs. Khrushchev described Mamie Eisenhower as a "courteous and kind lady and a good hostess." She said she and her husband were "happy to be her guests," referring to the White House dinner Tuesday in their honor.

"I would be glad to receive her in the USSR," Mrs. Khrushchev said. But she added that she did not yet know whether Mrs. Eisenhower would accompany the President on his exchange visit to Moscow later this fall.

In St. Luke's Anglican Church On Evening of Father's Birthday

On the evening of her father's birthday, Beverley Helen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hap Hinton of Gordon Head, became the bride of Terence John Holland, son of Mrs. W. H. Puddicome of Simon Road, and the late John Holland, London, Eng.

Rev. T. D. B. Ragg officiated at the double-ring service in St. Luke's Anglican Church, where the bride taught Sunday school and took part in various parish activities for many years.

A gown of ivory brocaded satin was worn by the fair-haired bride as she entered the church on the arm of her father. Fashioned on princess lines, dress had a deep V neckline and long lily point sleeves. Her seed pearl coronet held a fine nylon net fingertip veil. Only jewelry was a pearl necklace. She carried a cascade of pink roses and white heather.

Maid of honor, Miss Pamela Elliott, and the bride's two sisters, Miss Darleen Hinton and Miss Sharyn Hinton, bridesmaids, wore taffeta gowns in waltz length. Gowns had bateau necklines with V at back, dropped waistlines and full skirts. Miss Elliott and Miss Sharyn Hinton were in green tones and Miss Darleen Hinton, copper tone. They all carried bouquets of chrysanthemums and wore matching chrysanthemum bandeaux.

Best man was Geoffrey Castle and ushers were David Spilsbury and Fred Hogkinson.

R. Iverson proposed toast to the bride at the reception in Uplands Golf Club. A three-tier wedding cake flanked by vases of pink roses and candelabra, centred bridal table.

A sapphire blue silk crepe print dress in sheath style was worn by the bride's mother. Her hat was of blue feathers and she had a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Puddicome wore a sea green lace sheath style dress with black hat and a corsage of yellow roses.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to Washington and Idaho, the new Mrs. Holland donned an avacado green wool suit with matching feather hat. Her jewelry was an aurora borealis pin, gift of the groom. She had a corsage of white gardenias.

Satellite Shot Fails to Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The United States failed today in an effort to put a 265-pound global navigation satellite into orbit around the earth.

A Thor-Able rocket carried the satellite aloft at 10.34 a.m. EDT, but the defence department announced an hour later that the rocket's third stage apparently failed to fire, and "it must be assumed that the satellite did not orbit."

The aim was to put the sphere into a difficult circular orbit 400 miles above the earth. If successful the satellite would be visible from all over the United States. Its life expectancy was "several years."

The Thor-Able firing followed a perfect launching of an operational Atlas missile Wednesday night. The Atlas flew almost its maximum range, travelling almost 6,300 statute miles. It landed in the Ascension Island area of the South Atlantic.

OTTAWA (UPI) — Finance Minister Donald Fleming has agreed to discuss salary increases with representatives of Canada's 150,000 civil servants Oct. 13 or 14, it was disclosed today.

The joint action committee of the public service organizations said Fleming agreed to the date in a telephone conversation with Fred W. Whitehouse, president of the Civil Service Federation of Canada.

The joint action committee said Fleming emphasized the federal government has no desire to prolong the salary situation, but that this has been necessary due to the complicated nature of the problem.

STORK SPOILS SCORPIO'S CUPID

Stars Cross Up Margaret

LONDON (AP) — The man who predicted that Princess Margaret would get married today said the pregnacy of the Queen probably upset the wedding.

"The wedding was in the stars," said Dr. William Tucker, president of the Federation of British Astrologers, "and the stars never go wrong."

Pausing for breath during an interview he added: "You will remember that nine months ago I said the Queen would have an emotional upset in May. Well, she did, and this probably interfered with the wedding bells."

Last January Dr. Tucker said in a filmed interview: "The Queen's horoscope shows she will have an emotional disturbance in May connected with a personal and family matter.

"I deduce from this she will make a decision concerning the marriage of her sister, Princess Margaret."

Dr. Tucker was even more specific this afternoon.

"The man she was to have married was a scorpio-born between Oct. 23 and Nov. 21. That man was Prince Henry of Hesse."

Prince Henry's full name is Heinrich Wilhelm Konstantin Victor Franz Hesse and he lives in Rome. Known as one of Europe's most eligible bachelors, he met the pretty princess in Rome last April—four months after Dr. Tucker predicted her romance with a scorpio.

"Prince Henry is a scorpio," he said, "and as far as the stars are concerned he's still the man."

For the Queen Dr. Tucker has a new prediction: "Her Majesty will have her baby at 10.30 in the morning on Jan. 17, 1960."

Bank Rate Continues To Rise

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada interest rate edged upwards today to 6.13 per cent from 6.05 last week with the sale of $100,000,000 in 91-day government treasury bills.

It was the third weekly increase in a row. The rise of .08 per cent was half of the .16-per-cent increase last week.

The bank rate — minimum charge made on the infrequent central bank loans to chartered banks—is set at one-quarter of 1 per cent above the average yield on the weekly issue of 91-day treasury bills sold by tender.

Today $100,000,000 of the bills were sold with an average yield of 5.88 per cent compared with 5.80 last week.

The Bank of Canada rate of 6.13 per cent set today compares with the record high of 6.41 per cent on Aug. 13. The record low was 1.12 on Aug. 2, 1958.

U.S. Won't Be Fooled, Says Ike

WASHINGTON (CP) —President Eisenhower suggested today the American people would not be fooled even by such a "master debater" as Premier Khrushchev into believing that communism is the better system.

He told a press conference questioner that the U.S. people are strong enough in their convictions to listen to any man present his views and to make their own decisions on the man's argument.

He said he is convinced that Khrushchev is sincere in expressing repugnance of the horrors of war but, even so, there is still room in the world for a lot of misunderstanding and miscalculation that could be very serious.

The American leader said his talks with Khrushchev have been extremely friendly, but that it is too early to tell whether the Soviet premier has changed his mind on any world issues.

REALLY TRYING

He said Khrushchev's manner and deportment indicate he really is trying to reach agreement regarding international problems.

As for the public reception Khrushchev received in Washington, Eisenhower remarked that the crowds did show what he termed reservation. He indicated he feels that was to be expected in view of the differences between the United States and Russia on specific problems and general government philosophy.

Herter Gives UN U.S. Peace Program

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — State Secretary Christian Herter today laid down a broad program aimed at ending East-West tension through peaceful change in the political, military and economic fields.

Herter addressed the 82-country General Assembly in a major policy speech obviously aimed at Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who is to speak from the same rostrum Friday afternoon.

While denouncing the use of force by the Communists in Asia and other places, such as Hungary, Herter appealed for serious negotiation on disarmament, outer space co-operation and such outstanding political problems as Berlin and the reunification of Germany.

He blamed the non-co-operation of the Soviet Union for the arms race of the last 10 years, but declared that the United States regards the forthcoming disarmament talks next year as "a major opportunity."

"Successful negotiations could not only open new avenues of progress toward limitation and control of arma-

Oil Tycoon Turns Up

CHICAGO (UPI) — Missing millionaire oil tycoon Harold T. Martin returned to his offices today after almost 24 hours' absence and refused to say where he had been.

Martin, the owner of 80 Martin gasoline stations across the country, said only that the "pressure of business" had led him to drop out of sight.

Police Lt. Otto Kruzer said Martin told him "the pressure was so great he wanted to get rid of it all and take a 24-hour vacation."

Boost College Students Told

By JOHN MIKA

Victoria College's record number of students today were urged to "go out and boost for your college" to help in putting spring campaign for $1,500,000 over the top.

Judge J. B. Clearihue, chairman of the college council, told an overflow crowd of students which swamped the auditorium that they could help the building funds drive.

"There are 1,000 of you here and if you speak to your parents and friends . . . go out and boost for your college . . . it will help greatly." If each one of you speaks to 20 people, that would give 20,000 friends of the college and that would put us over next spring in the drive."

The fund, to be matched dollar for dollar by the provincial government, will be used to build science, library, faculty and power plant buildings on the present campus.

OPPOSES MOVING

Judge Clearihue indicated in his speech that he holds firmly to the plan for developing the existing campus rather than starting "from scratch" in re-establishing the college on the recently-acquired Gordon Head property.

He said the Gordon Head property will not be left idle. A new playing field for the students and a large gymnasium will be used this fall and —"this is just a personal hope"—some of the army huts may be converted to dormitories next spring.

"We have a lot of good buildings out there. It's true they are made of wood but they are sound.

"Unfortunately, there has been a certain amount of unwarranted criticism of Victoria College but in spite of that we are building a university here in Victoria," he said.

"We will build it slowly but very soundly."

He said the affiliation with the University of B.C. would be retained, and told the students that whether they graduate from Vancouver or Victoria, their degrees would be the same.

'Needed A Great Man'

NEW YORK (AP) —Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev hailed President Eisenhower today as a "great man" who had the courage and wisdom to invite the leader of world communism to the United States.

"I am aware some politicians in this country are displeased by this step taken by the president of this country, but it needed a great man to look farther ahead instead of those who are unable to see any further than their noses," the Soviet leader said.

Quiet Welcome

"It is a man's greatness to be able to see today and to be also able to see future prospects and that the prospects should be clear for his nation."

Khrushchev made the remarks in Russian at a luncheon in his honor at the Commodore Hotel, given by Mayor Robert Wagner on behalf of the city of New York. The city welcomed the Soviet leader quietly on the second leg of his tour.

The usual ticker-tape parade was omitted.

Mostly it was a polite silence, punctuated by a few cheers and by some shouts of "murderer" and placards reading:

Concerning Eisenhower, the Russian leader said:

"I have always esteemed your president and I do so to an even greater degree now. To have invited Khrushchev to the United States needed wisdom and will power and understanding of the need to place the relations between our countries on a sounder basis."

Loud Laugh

Khrushchev drew a loud laugh from the audience at the luncheon when he said of course there were other reasons why he was invited.

"You wanted to see what kind of a man Khrushchev was," he said. "Well, here I am."

Laughingly, Khrushchev referred to the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Henry Cabot Lodge, for the "burden" he will have in accompanying Khrushchev on his tour as official escort.

Lodge, in a previous address, had delivered a lecture to Khrushchev about the United States, winding it up in this way:

"I hope you'll forgive me, but you, sir, have awakened us and made us more conscious of the great ideals on which our country rests and we sincerely appreciate that."

Khrushchev displayed an attitude in marked contrast to that of the speakers who preceded him.

Deadly Serious

Ambassador Lodge, outspoken antagonist of Soviet policies in the United Nations, was deadly serious as he lectured the visiting premier on the United States and its ways, on the situation of American Negroes and on the determination of Americans to end legal segregation.

Khrushchev arived in New York today in brisk, sunny weather, expressing hope a bright sun always would

PLEASURE AFLOAT

Fishing Biggest Hazard on Water

If you are going fishing this weekend, then be careful, for you will be engaging in an activity that produces more than half of the fatal accidents to the occupants of pleasure craft. You would be much safer, according to statistics, to indulge in some high speed water skiing or racing.

These astounding facts, which are contrary to the common conception of what causes boating accidents, are revealed in a study of press reports of 937 accidental deaths of occupants of pleasure craft in the United States during 1957. The study was conducted by the Outboard Boating Club of America. According o figures released by the U.S. government's Vital Statistics Office, there were 1,237 fatalities due to "submersion of occupant of small boat" in the United States in 1956. Latest official Canadian government figures are 245 for the year 1955.

Racing Much Safer

The study shows that 56.6 per cent of the deaths investigated happened while the occupants were engaged in the quiet pusuit of fishing. In contrast, fatalities while water skiing accounted for only 3.2 per cent of the total, and racing but 1.3 per cent.

That fishing accounted for a large proportion of the accidents studied may be surprising, but it correlates with the findings as to the cause of the mishaps. Predominant among the causes is falling overboard, standing in a boat, and overloading, all brought about by actions that the fisherman finds convenient, if not necessary, to the best pursuit of his postime. Keeping your seat when fishing from a small boat would seem to be tantamount to staying alive. Or else wearing a lifejacket at all times!

Chief Causes

Operator negligence is the number one cause of boating accidents in the U.S. according to the OBC report. Under this category the study places 31.7 per cent of the cases. It could have as readily placed another 24.33 per cent in a category labelled "operator misjudgment." These causes were collision with another boat, rocks, reef, or submerged object (8.82 per cent), and swamping by wave, wake, own wash while in reverse, wind, storm, or rain squall (15.15 per cent).

While the study shows that the second largest cause of fatal accident involving small boats was by boats found "capsized or overturned"—28.84 per cent what contributed to the capsizing or overturning was too vague or generalized in press reports to make a proper classification under a more pertinent heading. Careless operation could probably be blamed for most of the accidents in this classification.

Youth No Big Factor

Kids in their high-speed outfits are shown by the OBC report to be only incidental factors to boating accidents, as much as they may cause individual concern when they are operating.

The largest number of victims is shown to be in the age group of 20 to 44 years—the particularly active years for sport participation, especially fishing. It is significant that less than 8 per cent of the actual operators of boats involved in fatal accidents were under 20 years of age, and that almost three-quarters of these over 14. Legislation setting a minimum age for boat operators would hardly seem necessary on the basis of these OBC figures.

It is worth pondering, however, that 19.77 per cent of the non-operators drowned were below 20 years of age, and half of these were 14 years or younger. Is this an indication of parental carelessness in the issuing of lifejackets to be worn by the youngsters?

What type of boats were involved in fatal accidents? As to be expected, because of the much greater number in use, boats powered by outboard motors were cited in 57.9 per cent of the cases. Unpowered rowboats and skiffs were involved in 25.8 per cent of the fatal accidents—which seems an unusually high figure, but it is due, no doubt, to their being types greatly favored by some fishermen. Inboards were figured at 9.1 per cent, canoes at 4.8 per cent and sailboats at 2.4 per cent.

Shooting Ban Bylaw Meeting Opposition

(From Duncan Bureau)

CHEMAINUS — Opposition to a municipality of North Cowichan bylaw to regulate the discharging of firearms in the municipality is growing.

The Rod and Gun Club has already served notice that it will oppose the bylaw and seeks the support of affiliated game clubs.

Chemainus-Crofton Chamber of Commerce this week also voted unanimously to oppose the bylaw, which was given first reading by council at its last meeting.

The bylaw will prevent hunters from discharging firearms in defined areas of the municipality, including certain parks and fire protection areas, unless they first obtain a special municipal permit, at a fee to be stipulated. The bylaw also provides for a fine of up to $100 for hunters ignoring bylaw restrictions.

Bob Bennie told the chamber that organized sportsmen were vigorously opposed to the proposed bylaw.

THE OTHER VIEW

"The hunters, that's where it hurts most. I pay a $11.50 licence now. I buy shells and other equipment here in the municipality.

"You know what's behind this. Six people who ride horses on Maple Mountain want to keep about 500 hunters out of there. It should be the other way around. Just remember, this is just the thin edge of the wedge and unless we oppose it now, pretty soon we'll all have to go up to Nanaimo to hunt."

Reg Harwood said he was not a farmer or a hunter, but he knew that over on the mainland "an awful lot of farmers have had their cattle shot by hunters. Perhaps if some hunters had been a little better behaved we wouldn't be faced with this piece of legislation."

"We're paying enough taxes now a lot more than some of those farmers. Why should we pay more?" commented Ham Ballie.

The injunction also restrained the ships owners, British Yukon Navigation Company, from dismissing the four employees as requested by the SIU.

The Clifford J. Rogers is due in Vancouver from the north shortly and the SIU claims that the judge's decision paves the way for the discharge of the four crewmen.

Hundreds of police fanned through the Commodore Hotel—previously searched from cellar to roof—after two telephoned threats were received, but found no bombs.
